MISS STONE IN TEARS ON STAND

Woman Accused of Killing Ellis Guy Kinhead Testifies Between Sobs

Tells of Alleged Marriage Ceremony and Illegal Operation—Near Collapse

NEW YORK, March 30.—Miss Olivia H. P. Stone wept today as she went on the witness chair in supreme court in Brooklyn in her trial for slaying Ellis Guy Kinhead, former corporation counsel of Cincinnati.

Between sobs, she began telling of how, as a trained nurse, she went to Yale Hall in Atlantic City, May 18, 1918, to attend Kinhead.

Her story contained an account of an alleged marriage ceremony she had gone through with Kinhead at Atlantic City, on May 23, 1918, and an illegal operation at the Jersey resort in September of the same year.

Miss Stone seemed on the verge of a complete breakdown as she gave her testimony.

Miss Stone began her story at the point where she began nursing Kinhead during an illness at Atlantic City. Five days after she went on the case, she said, he proposed and she accepted. On the story of the city hall, she said, he told her that there was another woman in Cincinnati who had a claim on him and that he could not go through a formal ceremony just then. He slipped a wedding ring on her finger, she said, and told her he was so prominent, a lawyer that he knew the simpler ceremony was just as legal and he had enough influence to straighten the whole matter out.

She said she believed him and that they then went to the Marlborough-Blenheim and registered as man and wife.

WILL PRESENT MOTION TO PAY FIREMEN

President Patrick J. Bagley of the city council will present a motion to the council tonight, putting the body on record as recommending to the mayor that the 13 firemen, now under suspension insofar as it affects their wages, be paid at once for all service given to the department since appointment in December of last year.

The council realizes that its participation in the matter is limited to recommendations, but there is practically a unanimous belief on the part of the members that the firemen should be paid, inasmuch as they held to the position that they were legally appointed, look the positions in good faith and have actually worked continuously since date of appointment.

Mayor George H. Brown said today that he will do nothing regarding the firemen until he investigates their appointments. The mayor stated that he doubts the legality of their appointments and added that when Commissioner Salmon appointed them he "acted with a great deal of presumption."

"The commissioner had no right or authority to incur any such liability," said the mayor, "and I want to thoroughly investigate the appointments before I will say what my action will be."

Early in January the mayor refused to sign any fire department payrolls that included the names of the 13 firemen appointed in December by Mr. Salmon and wrote letters of suspension to each, which, however, never were sent, as far as can be learned. Their names have not appeared on any subsequent payrolls, however.

A day or so ago a representative of the state labor board was in the city inquiring into the status of the 12 men and while here called on a number of them.

RESTRICTIONS ON PICKETING OFF

Rules Limiting Number of Pickets Revoked by Providence Authorities

Strikers May Send Any Number of Men to Interlaken Print Works

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 30.—All rules limiting the number of pickets at the Interlaken print works at Arkwright, were received this morning by the civil authorities who announced that in the future the strikers will be at liberty to send as many men to the plant as they wish. Similar action will probably be taken, it was said, at other mills in the Pawtuxet valley.

The decision to give up the attempt to restrict picketing was made by Deputy Sheriff Lowell N. Whitman, in charge of the situation at Arkwright, and followed the refusal of Judge Felix Hebert of the fourth district court to issue warrants for the arrest of two men "for violating the picket law."

Judge Hebert informed him, Sheriff Whitman said, that there was no statute under which anyone could be arraigned for picketing.

Up to today the strikers had been limited to three pickets at the Interlaken plant. This morning there were 30 on hand. Deputy Sheriff Whitman, Chief of Police Wood of Coventry, and national guard cavalry, were present, but offered no objection to the gathering.

The pair whose arraignment Sheriff Whitman asked under the non-existent picket law, were arrested last night, when the strikers carried out their announced intention of testing the three picket rule. They were finally held on a charge of obstructing the sidewalk.

LOWELL MAN FINED $50 FOR ASSAULT ON GIRL

Gordon L. Pickering of this city today pleaded guilty to a charge of assault on Rosalind Supernant when arraigned before Judge Flynn in superior court in Boston and paid a fine of $50.

Pickering was first charged with assault with intent to rape and pleaded not guilty to it. Upon the recommendation of Officer Al Conroy, who has handled the case for the local police, the charge was changed to one of simple assault. Officer Conroy recommended a stiff fine and probation for Pickering. He got the fine but not the probation.

At Present Rate All Lawrence Cotton Mills Will Be Closed by Monday

Strike Leader Says Less Than 3000 of 21,000 on Payrolls Saturday Now at Work

LAWRENCE, March 30.—The strike of cotton mill operatives had advanced so far today that it was estimated not more than 3000 were working. When the week closed Saturday, there were about 21,000 on the pay rolls. Of this, only 3000 were working. The shutdown of the Arlington mills announced as due to poor business conditions but characterized by union officials as in the nature of a lockout. This remainder are strikers, absentees or persons out of a job because of the closing of plants.

The Everett and Methuen Co. mills have had to shut down completely. In others the workers present today were so few that only light operations were possible.

The woolen mills, including those of the American Woolen Co., which took no part in the wage reduction announcement against which the strike is directed, were the only ones operating to any large degree.

The strength of the strikers, increased daily since the first walkouts of Monday, was augmented today on all fronts. At this rate no mill will have no part in the wage reduction "morning" one strike leader said. Officials at the Pacific mills, the largest of the plants affected, said that enough persons were at work to operate for some time, but admittedly on a basis of only 25 per cent compared with recent operations.

SECOND WINDS ATTACKED

PAWTUCKET, R. I., March 30.—The Lonsdale Co., following attacks on second hands, who have been at work since the strike started, has instructed these men not to report for work until further notice. Only overseers and the office force now report for duty. Today about 200 pickets assembled in Lonsdale but only those known to be strikers from the local mills were allowed within the gates barring the approach to the Lincoln bleachery.

The plant of the Crown Manufacturing company, was again heavily picketed, but there was no disturbance. Soldiers were on guard at the mill of the Dexter Yarn Co. today. An attempt was recently made to resume work at this mill.

PERMANENT MEN FOR WATER DEPT.

From a civil service list of 20 names submitted to Supt. Robert Gardner of the water department, 10 men will be selected and appointed as permanent men in the department next Monday morning. The first 10 men on the list, taking by rank, who apply for the position, will be selected.

The full list, composed entirely of world war veterans, is as follows: William Cronan, 313 Broadway; Eli Hart, 125 Cross street; John J. Morlar, 6 Cross street; Dana B. Hart, 9 Waterford street; William J. Carey, 113 Liberty street; John P. Cryan, 55 Temple street; Joseph Carney, 22 Moody street; Joseph Carney, 22 Moody street; Henry T. Douglas, 62 A North street; Dennis W. Heslin, 211 Fletcher street; Thomas F. Shughnessy, 228 Lakeview avenue; Frank Bourke, 7 Puffer avenue; Thomas McNamara, Fletcher street; Michael Winn, 37 Cedar street; John T. Lawler, 267 Ward street; Windyslaw Zacharywski, 832 Gorham street; James F. Flannery, 19 Lombard street; John J. Burke, 1 Concord place; Timothy J. Carney, 224 Worthen street; Charles J. Donnelly, 612 Gorham street.

LOCAL TEXTILE STRIKE

Strikers to Start Injunction Proceedings Against Bay State and Hamilton

Injunction proceedings will be started at once by the textile strikers of this city against the officials of the two local corporations that are affected by the textile strike in an endeavor to have them produce the books of the company and prove that they cannot operate their mills without reducing the wages of the operatives, 20 per cent. The injunction will be asked on the ground that the manufacturers are pauperizing the city and are laying the burden of supporting hundreds of operatives on the charity department of the city of Lowell.

This decision was reached at a meeting of the strike committee held this morning at headquarters, and the action of the Lowell strikers will be a sort of a test case for the entire New England states.

Pres. John Hanley of the Lowell Textile council, who is in charge of the local strike, said in his opinion it is high time that the labor leaders should take steps to prevent manufacturers from throwing thousands of mill operatives out of work for the purpose of increasing mill revenues. "If the manufacturers can show that the proposed reduction of 20 per cent, is imperative, then well and good," said Mr. Hanley, "but if not, they should be forced to pay their operatives living wages. A textile strike in a city like Lowell affects not only the operatives of the mill but business in general, and it throws a burden upon the city that should not exist."

Mr. Hanley said that the attorney for the labor organizations of this city will be consulted at once and if the move is legal, he will be instructed at once to proceed with injunction proceedings. "If our contention is sustained by the courts," continued Mr. Hanley, "the move will prove beneficial not only to Lowell but to all other textile centers of New England states, where textile strikes are on."

Mr. Hanley also referred to the proposition of the legislature probing the Lawrence strike and said the investigation should also include this city. "It is true," he said, "that the strikers are not as numerous as in Lawrence, but nevertheless two local mills are affected by the strike and the 100 or more operatives of Lowell are as much entitled to consideration on the part of the state legislature as are the thousands in the Lawrence river city."

The weavers who are on strike were paid their weekly benefits at strike headquarters this morning, the checks being given out by Mrs. Annie Reagan, treasurer of the strike committee.

Relative to the statement published in The Sun yesterday to the effect that there was enough work at the Hamilton to keep the nappers busy for the next three months, Mr. Hanley stated today that out of 60 nappers, who are regularly employed at that mill, only six of them are on the job and they are being assisted in their work by apprentices. He also stated that most of the work in the napping department of the Hamilton is not the product of the mill, but consists of unfinished cloth sent here by out-of-town mills, as the Hamilton does considerable work of this nature for other concerns.

During the last 300 years there have been more changes in hat fashions than in any other part of men's attire.

NOTED TWINS DIE AS THEY LIVED

Rosa Was Once Married—Survived by 11-Year-Old Boy—Husband Killed

CHICAGO, March 30.—Josefa and Rosa Blazek, the "Siamese twins," died at a hospital here early today. Josefa's death occurred first and was followed in a few seconds by the death of her sister. Physicians had declared early in the night that in the event of the death of one of the sisters the other would die quickly as their brother, Frank Blazek had refused to permit an operation which would sever their bodies.

The twins had been in the hospital 10 days. Josefa was ill with yellow jaundice and that was followed by pneumonia. Shortly before her death, Rosa was afflicted with bronchitis.

Preparations had been made for the severing operation and the physicians were ready to make every effort to save the life of at least one of the women.

Although the twins possessed separate respiratory and circulatory systems, Dr. Brackenbury, chief of the surgical

BRINGING PRISONERS BACK TO LOWELL

Deputy Chief Downey this noon received word from Capt. Thomas R. Atkinson that he and Inspector Maher were on their way back from Elizabeth, N. J., with Carl Castor and Fred Richards, the two local men wanted here in connection with the theft of several autos and several store breaks.

The men were apprehended by the New Jersey police Monday morning after which the local police were notified. Acting Supt. MacBrayne and Captain Atkinson made a hurried trip to Boston the following day to start work of extradition.

Atkinson and Maher left on the midnight train Wednesday and evidently had little trouble in extraditing the men as the telegram received today said they were leaving Elizabeth at 1 o'clock.

WORD OF APPRECIATION FOR LOWELL ELKS

The appreciation and gratitude in one staunch soldier's heart simply had to come out as the result of the fine way he and his pals were treated by a delegation of Lowell folks.

Last Monday night the Lowell Elks entertained more than 500 disabled soldiers who are confined in the Parker Hill hospital in Roxbury. Yesterday Samuel Scott, exalted ruler of the lodge, received a letter "from a buddy" which must have more than repaid for the efforts spent to make the soldiers happy for a night at least. The letter follows:

U. S. P. H. Hospital No. 36,
125 Parker Hill Ave.,
Roxbury, Mass.,
March 27, 1922.

Mr. Samuel Scott,
Exalted Ruler, Lowell, N.P.O.E.
Dear Sir—I wish to thank you and your brother "Elks" and the ladies who were so kind as to give us a very good evening's entertainment at our Red Cross last evening. I do not know when I enjoyed an evening so much as last night. The talent was fine; you would have to travel very far to even duplicate it. Let alone beat it.

I was so pleased that I just had to drop you these few lines. I hope some day to thank you all personally and when I do I will do so by joining the "Elks" and becoming a member of the "Best fellows in America."

Again I thank you all. From a buddy in a hospital.

WILLIAM E. ROCHFORD,
Ward X.

More Appreciation

Another fine letter regarding the entertainment was received this afternoon by James E. Donnelly, who was in charge of the affair. The letter comes from Mr. Curran of the service men's entertainment committee.

Thanks to Mr. Donnelly and the local Elks organization is extended by the writer in behalf of the Massachusetts Elks association. The letter said that the boys were overjoyed by the entertainment and that many of them had gone to the Red Cross hut at 5 o'clock, immediately after supper, so they might get good seats for the performance. Mr. Curran says it was the "greatest show ever produced at Parker Hill."

WATCH FOR FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

BOSTON, March 30.—Dr. Lester H. Howard, director of the division of animal industry, issued a statement yesterday afternoon regarding "the present danger of an invasion of foot-and-mouth disease" and urging veterinarians, inspectors of animals and owners to take steps to prevent it. His statement says:

"The attention of all veterinarians, inspectors of animals, owners, dealers, slaughterers, and all other persons having to do with cattle, sheep, or swine is called to the present danger of an invasion of foot-and-mouth disease by its transmission from foreign countries where it is now very prevalent and with which this country has intimate trade relations, notably South America, Great Britain and the countries of continental Europe.

"We should be alert for the first appearance of the disease in order that an outbreak may be immediately surrounded. Prompt action is vital to our livestock interests should we again be so unfortunate as to have our herds invaded by this disease.

"Wire, telephone or send by messenger to this office report of any suspicious cases brought to your attention.

"From January 1 to March 8 it appeared in 968 herds in Great Britain, necessitating the slaughter of 43,735 animals."

INSTANTLY KILLED AT TOP OF POLE

NORTHAMPTON, March 30.—Patrick Foley, aged 30, lineman for the New England Telephone and Telegraph company, was instantly killed in a fall yesterday afternoon. He was making repairs when a tremendous voltage went over the wire. It is believed the current which caused a contact between electric light and telephone wires. Mr. Foley fell over the crossbar and when taken to the ground life was extinct.

Drs. C. H. Wheeler of Jaydenville and E. W. Brown of Northampton were summoned and worked for two hours with a pump, but without effect. Mr. Foley's wife died a few years ago and he leaves a little boy.

He was soon to be married to a telephone operator.

GETS 14 YEARS

"Certified SafeBreaker" Sentenced at Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 30.—Charles E. Benson was sentenced to 14 years in state prison yesterday for breaking into St. Patrick's church and possessing burglar's tools. Benson's arrest resulted in an investigation that showed he had broken into churches in Hartford, Conn., and El Paso, Tex. Benson's case aroused much interest because of a safe-breaking school diploma found in his possession, and he was characterized as a "certified safe-breaker." An attorney declared Benson fully responsible for his acts.

MAN KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION

BOSTON, March 30.—David J. Harrington, 76, of 22 Pleasant street, Somerville, died at the Somerville hospital last evening as a result of injuries received yesterday morning when he was plied against a telephone pole at the corner of Highland avenue and Walnut street, Somerville, by an automobile. Following the accident his left leg was amputated above the knee at the hospital. Death came at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. Harrington was about to cross Walnut street at Highland avenue when a car operated by Charles A. Reynolds of Cambridge, making the turn there, struck a machine operated by Alphonse LaCasse of Malden and knocked it upon the sidewalk, where it pinned Mr. Harrington against the pole. LaCasse was later arrested for driving without a license or a certificate of registration.

SOME POINTERS ON ADVERTISING

First Evening Forum Meeting by the Lowell Advertising Club

Interesting Discussion on Advertising as Viewed From Different Angles

The first evening forum meeting of the Lowell Advertising club, with local men as speakers and each subject open for discussion, was held in the chamber of commerce rooms last night. "Community Advertising—What Is It?" and "Some Suggestions from a Composing Room Foreman," were the main topics, and were ably discussed by Secretary-Manager George F. Wells of the chamber of commerce and John V. Donoghue, foreman of The Sun composing room, respectively. A discussion of the relative value or effectiveness of various advertising media was the third and last feature of the program, and Willard A. Parker of the Carlton & Hovey Co. led the discussion on this subject.

In the absence of President Frank Ricard, who is attending a jeweler's convention in Worcester, Miss Grace Burns of the Chalfoux company, vice president of the club, presided capably and introduced the various speakers. Mr. Wells was the first to be introduced, and began the discussion of his topic by explaining what community advertising really is. First, he said that the selling of the city is the objective of community publicity. Advertising may be used in various ways; for selling a specific thing, such as a suit of clothes, or to draw people to a given spot. The object in all cases is to lead people to the thing advertised.

There are two classes of community advertising, said Mr. Wells, first, the inhabitants of the community; second, all others. A city must live up to its slogan, due care having been taken in its selection. The people must believe in the spirit of its own community or it will never make any progress. The fundamentals of community spirit are good civic administration, schools, streets, housing, playgrounds, parks and working conditions.

Mr. Wells suggested following the example of the westerner abroad, who forgets the discouraging elements of his country, and speaks of it in glowing terms as the "Land of Sunshine," etc.

There are two kinds of advertising, honest and dishonest, and no city can afford to be dishonest. A circus ad is suited to circuses, where nothing is real, but not to a city where everything has a basis of reality. A campaign of education cannot be taken before a vivid picture of the city is at hand. Misleading advertising as community advertising is impractical.

No city can afford to go before the people of other localities unless they can offer one advantage which it possesses above all others. Variety is the price of life, said Mr. Wells, and one must have an unusual offering to attract the inhabitants of some other place to come to the community which is advertising itself.

As an example of exaggeration, Mr. Wells read a booklet designed to advertise a city which he did not name. The text was so visibly untruthful and misleading that it repelled rather than attracted its readers.

Mr. Wells closed by reciting the campaigns conducted by Los Angeles, New Orleans, Kansas City, San Francisco, Atlanta and Miami as excellent examples of the fact that advertising pays. Most notable was the case of Los Angeles, which city started advertising itself in 1880, with a population of about 50,000, and now has a population of 750,000.

Composing Room Thoughts

John V. Donoghue was the next speaker. He stated, in beginning, that the composing room might make many suggestions to advertisers. In order that they might understand the making of a modern newspaper a little better, he conducted them in spirit through a composing room, showing them the various details connected with preparing a newspaper for publication.

Because of the time taken in getting this message for the forum, said the speaker, it is sometimes beyond the bounds of human possibility to get out an ad in the middle of the week on account of the mass of work already confronting the compositor for the current issue.

He offered three suggestions, however. The first was that one side only of the paper should be written on and that a typewriter should be used if available, so that the copy might be legible as possible. Secondly, he recommended that the advertiser leave it to the discretion of the compositor to use taste and discrimination in making up the display. In connection with this he said that printers, as a general rule, have no "daylight" advertising, that is, leave a considerable white space about the reading matter. Although it is a trifle more expensive, he said, a large advertiser who had proved this method of advertising successful, although the average advertiser does not believe the "daylight" is necessary to attract attention.

His third suggestion was that advertisers get their copy in early. Mr. Donoghue said that he realized the varying climate of this section of the country made it necessary at times to hold up the copy until the last minute, so that the printer might be advertised. However, it would do the members of the Ad club a world of good to select a day for a trip through one of the local newspaper plants to see the work in operation; they might then realize that fully co-operation and knowledge of conditions are necessary in successful advertising.

The speaker then discussed the various kinds of type in successful advertising for ads, also, the length of the ad in various newspapers. He said that if the inventor of the Linotype machine had made it fool-proof the millennium in getting out papers would be reached. He declared, however, that few people have any idea of the immense amount of detail necessary in getting out a paper.

Mr. Donoghue had one thought he wished to leave with them; get the copy in as early as possible, and, if possible, leave the set-up to the discretion of the compositors, getting better service in return.

Ways of Advertising

Mr. Willard A. Parker of the Carlton & Hovey company gave a thorough discussion of various methods of advertising, newspapers, house to house, car, store window, poster, etc. He brought out the local and had features of each, but stated that he would give 40 per cent of his advertising to newspapers, 25 per cent each to house to house and window display, 15 per cent to street car and 5 per cent to poster advertising.

The discussion which followed was featured by a controversy between Benjamin Pouzner of the Telegram and Mr. Parker. Mr. Pouzner voiced a desire to see the local papers built up according to the methods of a famous New York paper, with the large ads on the bottom and the small ads on the top, leaving the more conspicuous part of the page to the news, for which, he claimed, the public bought the paper. Mr. Parker was of the opinion that the advertising matter should be given primary position, since it brought in more revenue to the news, but Mr. Pouzner's rebuttal seemed to find favor with a good majority of those present.

RED GUARDS SHOOT DOWN WORSHIPPERS

MOSCOW, March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Four parishioners were killed and 10 were wounded when red guards fired into a crowd which was obstructing the doorway of a principal church in an endeavor to prevent the authorities from executing the recent Soviet government decree for the confiscation of church treasures. It was learned in Moscow yesterday.

The confiscation committee, unarmed, had previously entered the church at Shuya, in the Province of Ivanovo-Voznesensk, and requested the surrender of the treasures, according to the report published by the Izvestia. The congregation indignantly protested and the committee departed.

The version published by the newspaper here said members of the congregation struck the authorities as they were leaving the church. The following day the officials returned with a detachment of soldiers. A crowd assembled and refused to disperse, whereupon the red guards fired a volley in the air. When the crowd became threatening and threw stones at the soviet officials, the guards opened fire in earnest.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE FOR POINCARÉ

PARIS, March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—The government of Premier Poincaré received a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies yesterday, 493 votes to 157, on the army service question. By this vote the deputies defeated the eight-months' military service bill, sponsored by Paul Boncour, moderate socialist.

Voting on the measure came after Premier Poincaré and War Minister Maginot committed the government to the measure providing for army service for a period of 15 months and asked that the subject be made a question of confidence in the ministry. The chamber now has before it two bills relating to the period of army service, one for 12 months and the other, the government measure, for 18 months.

Among the guests were S. E. Burbank of Mattapan, who was a pupil of Judge Hammond in the public schools of that community in 1861.

THREE ARLINGTON BOYS

ADMIT 14 BREAKS

ARLINGTON, March 30.—The numerous cash register robberies in Arlington, Belmont and Cambridge during the past few weeks were the work of three Arlington lads, still in their teens, according to Chief Urquhart yesterday to Chief Urquhart of the Arlington police.

The boys are Sidney C. Pinkson, 18 years old, of 1 Henry street; Frank H. W. Egan, 17 years old, of 938 Massachusetts avenue; and William J. Lynch, 17 years old, of 961 Massachusetts avenue.

The total amount of money stolen by the trio in the 14 breaks to which Chief Urquhart says the boys have owned up, was about $1000.

The boys were captured as the result of a break in the new Junior high school in Arlington Heights. Here a student's savings bank was broken open and $1 secured. Lunch counter tickets were also taken.

When the trio began giving away some of the tickets Chief Urquhart learned of it and with Patrolman Belyea, rounded up the three.

The boys told the chief that in only one instance were they in danger of being caught. This was in the break at the Pollapoulos fruit store on Trap road, Belmont, where six Belmont policemen surrounded the store. The youths thought the police would be asking for adult burglars, and so when the crowd began to press in, the burglars mingled with the throng while the police searched for them in vain. One of the lads carried at the time, a 38-calibre automatic pistol he had obtained in a recent break. This was found by the police in an old mattress in a cave at Arlington Heights, used as a "den" by the three boys.

DEBATE ON GENERAL FAR

EASTERN TREATY

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Ratification by the senate of the two arms conference treaties limiting the use of the grant powers and restricting the use of submarines and poison gas, had cleared the way for debate today on the general Far Eastern treaty.

It was the hope of the administration leaders that this pact along with the Chinese tariff treaty, would be ratified during the present week.

Without amendments or reservations being proposed to either, the senate ratified the naval limitation treaty yesterday by a vote of 74 to 1, and then almost without debate approved 71 to 6, the pact designed to prevent submarine operations against merchantmen and to outlaw chemical warfare altogether. Senator France, republican, Maryland, cast the only vote against the limitation treaty.

HOPE OF HALTING BIG

COAL STRIKE AVERTED

NEW YORK, March 30.—The rush of business today, to be already depending upon the unionized coal industry of the nation. The anthracite miners' and operators' sub-committee on wage contract negotiations abandoned all hope of halting the strike set for April 1 and entrenched themselves for a long struggle over the conference table.

Strike notices have been posted in both the bituminous and anthracite fields. Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, announced, "Union miners will not strike until they have their tools at midnight tomorrow, when their present working contract with the operators will expire, he said."

GRANITE CUTTERS VOTE

ON WAGE CUT

BOSTON, March 30.—Failure of the Granite Cutters' International union to accept the new working agreement offering cutters, polishers and sharpeners a minimum hourly wage of 80 cents instead of the present $1 rate, will mean establishment of the American plan (open shop) in New England, should the board of control of the Granite Industry announced today. The proposed agreement would go into effect on April 1, and be effective for two years. The proposal also provides for a change in wages should there be a 10 per cent. increase or decline in living costs.

James Duncan, president of the union today declared that at least seven New England locals had already rejected the latest offer. Others are now voting on it, he said. In order that the union's answer may be in the producers' hands by midnight tomorrow, when the present agreement expires, Mr. Duncan named the following locals as having refused the offer to date:

Quincy, Hardwick, Vt.; Concord, N. H.; Westbury, R. I.; North Jay, Me.; Redstone, N. H., and Williamstown, Vt.

SISTER BARGES

HARD AGROUND

SANDWICH, March 30.—The large D. J. Mulqueen, Jr., of the Hughes line, was aground today near the breakwater at the eastern entrance to the Cape Cod canal. Half a mile away, her sister barge, the Katherine, was hard aground near the Sandwich breakwater. Neither was damaged.

The barges, bound empty from Boston to New York, broke from their tow, the tug Col. John Dana of New York, in a gale last night. It was expected that both would float at high tide today.

Persons having a waist measure greater than 33 inches are not permitted to enter the crystal caverns of Sequoia national park.

PLAYING NO FAVORITES

Sheriff-Bartender Said, "Am the Law, Cannot Be Arrested"—Lands in Jail

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., March 30.—Being a cafe proprietor and a special deputy sheriff doesn't mean anything to prohibition officers.

Samuel Constanzo, combined sheriff and bartender, flashed his shield when he was arrested yesterday for violating prohibition laws and claimed immunity. "I am the law," he said, "I cannot be arrested."

He is now in jail waiting hearing.

ONE WAY OF

GETTING SHOES

In the morning mail at the chamber of commerce today was a post card from an individual in Paterson, N. J., asking for a sample of shoes and boots. Reflecting upon this rather unusual request, it was considered that requests might have been sent to chambers of commerce in other cities, asking for other articles of clothing, and in that way a complete wardrobe might be secured if these eccentric demands were granted.

After due deliberation the post card went to the waste basket.

COD LIVER OIL MAN

IN MOSCOW STREETS

MOSCOW, March 30.—The "cod liver oil man" is the latest addition to the picturesque sights of Moscow's streets for which the American relief administration is responsible. After the fashion of the once familiar milkman, he drives around daily, a huge cod mounted on a truck, his route including all the day nurseries and children's homes. There is no charge.

The reports of the relief administration, however, make no mention of the children's "delight" at the sight of the truck or of their gratitude to the kind Americans for this particular form of relief.

AMERICAN INDIANS

TAKE UP GOLF

CHICAGO, March 30.—And now the American Indians have taken up golf, many of the Aborigine caddies of the courses in Arizona having procured clubs and by imitating the white man become fairly proficient in the game that is played more universally than any other sport.

At the new Ingleside club, near Phoenix, Ariz., young bucks from nine different tribes have gained considerable proficiency. With the natural swing begotten of loose joints, the shrewd muscles of the keen-eyed red skin drive far and straight.

TO REBUILD EDIFICE

Priests Consider Plans to Erect Church to House Famous Statue of Ste. Anne

QUEBEC, March 30.—Blackened, fire-scarred walls today marked what up until yesterday was the Basilica of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, commonly called the "Lourdes of North America." The Shrine of the Monastery of the Redemptorist Fathers, to which tens of thousands of afflicted persons have turned their footsteps in the hope of finding relief from suffering, was almost completely destroyed before the fire had burned itself out.

Undismayed the Redemptorists today were considering plans for rebuilding the edifice to house the famous statue of Ste. Anne and the relics of the guardian spirit of the place. The damage done by the fire was estimated at $1,300,000. The insurance was reported to be about $600,000.

MRS. LIBBY IN JAIL

State Welfare Officers Probe Manner in Which She Obtained Two Babies

LOGANSPORT, Ind., March 30.—Mrs. Helen Libby, 41 years old, wife of a traveling salesman, employed by a Chicago concern, was placed in jail last night pending investigation by state welfare officers into the manner in which she obtained two babies, both less than three months old, who she is alleged to have represented to her husband as being their children.

Mrs. Libby said her husband was absent from home at his work much of the time and that for this fact, she expected no trouble in perpetrating the imposition.

RADIO APPARATUS FOR "Wired Wireless" Solves the Problem of Babel of the Air

BOSTON, March 30.—Boston's fire fighting fleet may soon be directed by radio orders, sent to the vessels in any part of the harbor from the department headquarters at Bristol street.

Acting Fire Commissioner John Manning said today that the purchase of receiving and sending radio apparatus for each of the fire vessels and for the central station, was now under consideration.

Radio orders, he said, would tend to increase greatly the mobility and the speed of the fire boat force.

MAJ. GEN. GEORGE O. SQUIER "PLUGS IN" ON HIS ELECTRIC LIGHT CIRCUIT AND LISTENS TO RADIO MESSAGES.

(By HARRY B. HUNT)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—"Wired wireless" solves the problem of the babel of the air created by radio enthusiasts.

Maj. Gen. George O. Squier, chief signal officer of the United States army, explained today how his development of "wired wireless" can be applied to practical problems of radio broadcasting and receiving.

Sitting at his desk in his office in the Munitions building, General Squier turns the switch of his electric desk lamp.

Immediately the strains of a violin solo by Mischa Elman flood the room, coming from an ordinary radio-receiving set in one corner.

System Is Simple

"There's nothing startling about it," says Squier, snapping off the switch. "For years we have been broadcasting all sorts of things by means of our electric lighting circuits—flat irons, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, dishwashers, curling irons, fans.

"Now by this system of controlled radio, we simply broadcast radio waves over a definite network of wires and into homes and offices in a definitely known zone, instead of sending them out at random to help confuse the ether.

Radio New Exclusive

"One of the biggest handicaps to radio, heretofore, has been its all-inclusiveness. By this new method, radio may be made exclusive.

"Washington, for instance, may broadcast for its citizens concerns, lectures, news-bulletins or any sort of information or entertainment without disturbing the ether for Baltimore or other nearby towns.

"By assigning wave-lengths, any number of broadcasting stations can feel messages into the Washington circuit, for Washington consumption, without cluttering up the ether for general radio work.

"This exclusiveness can be carried much further. Any hotel or building having its own electric system, can become a self-contained radio circuit.

"With a radio amplifier in each room, connected with the hotel's own electric circuit, it would be possible for the music of the orchestra in the main dining room to be broadcasted to every guest room.

Possibilities Infinite

"The possibilities are infinite. Both for business and personal uses, the development of a method of controlled radio immeasurably broadens the field of its practical use.

"By making possible intensive radio

broadcasting within the limits of a given city or community, without affecting the ether for other cities or for long distance radio communication, wired wireless greatly simplifies the problem of radio regulation.

You Merely "Plug In"

"The same sort of plug that is on the end of your flat-iron cord or your vacuum sweeper connection connects your radio-receiving set with the city's electric circuit.

"Then you can get off that circuit whatever radio messages are put on it—get them clearly, sharply, distinctly, without any 'fading in' and 'fading out,' and without interference from outside broadcasting stations or experimenting amateurs.

"And while others are not bothering you, while you're getting this local broadcasting, the ether is left just as clear for the other communication, as if all local 'wired wireless' stations were silent."

CRAMPS, PAINS AND BACKACHE

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles."

Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner. This is noted by the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms.

New Complexions for Old!

Make This Amazing FREE Test!

Thousands whose complexions only recently were marred with humiliating skin blemishes today possess entirely new complexions—complexions which are entirely free from even the slightest imperfections, and which glow with the radiance and freshness of perfect health!

These surprising results were achieved, not by using "beautifiers" or cosmetics of any kind, but by getting at the real cause of the trouble and supplying the body with the proper amount of vitamins and iron—two elements vital to health, yet lacking in the modern diet.

Make This Amazing Test!

If your complexion is a source of embarrassment to you—if you are thin or feel the need of more "pep," simply mail coupon for the famous Three-Day Trial Treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. Take these pleasant-tasting tablets—two with each meal. Then get ready for a surprise!

Yeast Best With Iron

IRONIZED YEAST is pleasant to take and will not cause gas or in any way affect the stomach as it contains a specially cultured yeast which is grown under the strictest supervision for medicinal purposes. The reason it brings such splendid results is because it supplies the iron and run-down folks with the three vitamins, which though vitally essential to health, are lacking in the modern diet. But more than that, it supplies your blood with the iron needed to make it rich, red and strong. Vitamins alone are fine—but when taken with iron, as in IRONIZED YEAST, they bring their good results just twice as quickly in many cases.

Try Ironized Yeast Today!

Just mail coupon as directed above for the wonderful Three-Day FREE Trial Treatment. Or go to your druggist and get IRONIZED YEAST on the positive guarantee that your money will be instantly refunded if you are in any way dissatisfied with the results. You will very likely be amazed at the improvement IRONIZED YEAST will show in you. Get it today!

Be Sure It's Ironized Yeast!

Due to the marked superiority of IRONIZED YEAST it is being widely imitated. IRONIZED YEAST is distinctly different from ordinary combinations of yeast and iron—or yeast and iron taken separately. Certain type of yeast and iron have absolutely no value medicinally. IRONIZED YEAST, on the other hand, means not only specially cultured yeast and other vitamins, but process by which these specially cultured yeast and other vitamins are ironized. There is only one IRONIZED YEAST. Insist upon it always—for nothing else can be like it.

BONUS FOR SOLDIERS

Biggest Issue of the Day, Says

Brig. Gen. Cole—Question of Keeping Faith

BOSTON, March 30.—Brig. Gen. Chas. H. Cole, commander of the State Department of the American Legion, in sending out an advisory message concerning the soldiers' bonus, to the 273 Legion posts in Massachusetts yesterday, declared that "no more important domestic question confronts our country today than this question of keeping faith with and redeeming public promises to the men who fought the war."

General Cole declared that the whole issue of adjusted compensation amounts down to the question of whether the government, which paid fabulous sums to laborers and contractors who worked at home, will do as it promised and allow an average of $2 a day to the men who risked their lives and their fortunes to protect their country.

He said that adjusted compensation in some form or another has been under consideration by congress since the summer of 1919, and that the present bill is the outgrowth of numerous legislative suggestions and is the result of many conferences and hearings. He stated that it represented the best aggregate thought on the subject.

The general declared that a good many thousands of men must have cash and cannot be interested in any other form of compensation, and that it is manifestly unfair to penalize a man merely because he is in immediate need of financial aid.

He stated that the Adjusted Compensation bill has the support of the vast majority of Legion men. He said that it does not provide a bonus, nor a gratuity for patriotic services rendered, but makes an appropriate adjustment of the economic losses sustained by reason of that service, and that the Legion believes that the economic lot of the soldier who offered his life to his country should be made somewhere near equal to the lot of the laborer who remained at home, "immune from danger, receiving a wage two or three times that of the soldier."

"That there is intrinsic justice in the claim is shown by the fact that other nations have long ago adjusted the compensation of their fighters," he said.

AWARDED $25,000Newark Girl Wins Breach of Promise Suit

NEWARK, N. J., March 30.—A jury yesterday gave Miss Mollie Weiss, 21, a verdict of $25,000, after deliberating only 25 minutes on her breach of promise suit against Irving Pinkstein, 29, store manager. The verdict was for the full amount asked.

Miss Weiss identified Pinkstein as the father of her baby daughter, and said he obtained her promise of marriage in August, 1919. He refused to wed her, she said, after the baby was born in April, 1921.

NAVY TO TRANSFER ITS ALASKA COAL MINES

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The navy department's entire interest in Alaskan coal fields, principally the Chickaloon mines, will be transferred to the department of the interior, effective next May 1, it was announced yesterday by Secretary Fall.

Transfer of the navy department's investment was proposed recently by Secretary Denby in a memorandum to Secretary Fall. It was agreed at the cabinet meeting yesterday, Secretary Fall said, that the transfer would be made as of May 1.

The navy's investment amounted to $1,100,000 for the development of the Matanuska field, in which is the Chickaloon mine, where approximately 40,000 tons of coal has been blocked out. Diamond drilling has developed 2,600,000 tons at Cold Creek, two and one-half miles from Chickaloon.

ATTITUDE OF SHIPPING BOARD DENOUNCED

NEW YORK, March 30.—A committee representing creditors of the United States Mail Steamship company yesterday issued a statement charging that the attitude taken toward them by the United States shipping board is "rapidly becoming a scandal in the eyes of the maritime world."

"Although congress has set aside $5,000,000 for the specific purpose of paying the innocent creditors," continued the statement, "the shipping board may decline to pay these bills until the claimants have gone through costly and almost interminable litigation."

"We represent 600 New York merchants and contractors, who, trying to do their share toward building up an American merchant marine, suffered financially to the extent of about $1,500,000. We knew that the world over, where merchandise is delivered in good faith to ships, bills therefor are considered as liens against the ships."

"When the bankruptcy of the United States mail line came we discovered the government had turned over $25,000,000 worth of its ships to a company which had neither cash nor credit, and from which it had not even required a bond. The shipping board now claims the line was responsible for the debts, not the government."

REGISTRATION FOR AUTOMOBILE COURSE

FOR NERVOUS INDIGESTION

Mrs. Showers Trembled All Over Before She Found the Remedy

"I would have attacks of indigestion, no matter how little I ate," says Mrs. Emma Showers of No. 170 Glad Street, Marion, Ohio, "and would have terrible colic in my stomach. My tongue was coated and I had a bitter taste in my mouth. Some nights I couldn't sleep, I had such suffocating nervous spells. Sometimes I would tremble all over with nervousness. I had a dull headache and a soreness across my stomach."

"An article in a newspaper started me taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I could notice quite a difference after the first box. The attacks of indigestion were not as frequent nor as severe. After two more boxes I could eat a great dinner. My nerves were stronger, the trembling stopped and I could get a good night's rest. I do not have the stomach pains at all now. I can eat anything I want and am stronger and better in every way."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are particularly useful in nervous dyspepsia because they build up the blood, strengthen the nerves and tone up the digestive organs. In four cases is similar to that of Mrs. Showers, you owe it to yourself to give the remedy a trial.

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," which tells about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box.

WAR ON BEGGARS AND PANHANDLERS IN HUB

BOSTON, March 30.—Acting Police Commissioner Crowley last night issued the following general order in regard to beggars and peddlers on the street. Police Commissioner Curtis, just before he went to his home on Tuesday, had a conference on this matter with the superintendent and others interested in the matter and ordered that the general order be issued and made public.

The order reads: "Since the arrival of good weather it is noticeable that our streets, especially in the business section, are being infested with persons who, although holding hawkers' and peddlers' licenses have no right to occupy the streets as they are being used at the present time unless the said persons are licensed at a designated stand by the board of street commissioners."

"It has also been reported that panhandlers and beggars are becoming numerous all over the city and many requests have been made of the police to prosecute the offenders."

"The Family Welfare society and the Overseers of the Public Welfare, 13 Hawkins street, will aid worthy and needy persons who reside in Boston and who are found begging upon the streets."

Bitter Feud Ends in Duel

In riding gloves and backed in Wilson's case, with a weight of specially trained bone and muscle.

Criley won. According to the Examiner the feud was of long standing, arising from a quarrel after a New Year's festivity. Wilson left for Honolulu early in the year. His vacation time was spent in training, walking, swimming and boxing. He returned in fine trim.

It was stated that Mrs. Criley expected a promise that her husband would not strike the first blow. At the hour for the combat, the principals arrived. Wilson paced off a space the size of a ring. Old English rules were approved providing that a knockdown constituted a round and for intervals of three minutes between rounds. Wilson stepped into the ring, stripped to his undergarments and waited while Criley removed his glasses and his coat. With a cry of "Now" Wilson landed the first blow. There was little sparring. The men stood chest to chest and traded blow for blow. The second round was shorter. Wilson went down again. Five rounds were fought, according to witnesses. At last Wilson stayed down. "You win," he said, "but don't think I am through with you. I've just begun." "I am always at your service," replied Criley. Criley was formerly a business man and retired to devote his time to the study of landscape painting. Mrs. Criley has been under a doctor's care since the affair. "The whole thing was childish," Criley said. "It was schoolboy stuff."

JEWISH WAR SUFFERERS

Lowell's Relief Fund Quota
is Nearing the Half Way
Mark

Reports in the Lowell Jewish War Relief campaign drive for $25,000, submitted at the noon meeting yesterday totaled over $10,000 and latest reports from the workers last night indicated the great probability that the $12,000 mark will be passed before tonight. The success of the campaign so far has

How a Cough Remedy
Raffled an Automobile

Mr. Patrick J. Kane is a well known railroad man of New London, Connecticut, and Master of a lodge which gives sick benefits to its members. On account of the great amount of illness among the members, the funds in the Treasury ran very low, and it became necessary to get money. It was decided to raffal an automobile. Then the members of the lodge started out to sell tickets. They talked every minute that they had from their duties and were very successful, but it was a great strain upon their voices. The big wind-up was made at the Stafford, Connecticut, Fair. There several of the members talked almost continuously for three days. At night they were thoroughly worn out, hoarse, and almost speechless, with the exception of Mr. Kane, who used his throat just as much as any of the rest, if not more, but kept his voice clear and himself free from fatigue. When his co-workers asked how he did it, he put his hand in his pocket and brought out a bottle of Cerizane.

"There," he said, "a few drops of that once in a while kept me fit." So the boys of the lodge say that Cerizane deserves much of the credit for the successful raffling of the automobile.

Mr. Kane has used this remedy before and recommended it to many others. He says that for any form of coughs and colds, and any such affliction as cold in the head, hoarseness, sore throat, pain in the chest, there is nothing as good as Cerizane.

This is an old remedy that has been made for nearly a hundred years, by the Wilsons of Boston. It is absolutely free from chloroform, narcotics, or other harmful drugs. Any reliable druggist will sell it to you.

inspired the workers with the greatest enthusiasm.

A big feature of the meeting was supplied by Abraham Leshinsky, the hardest working and best single producer among the workers. His results have been so pre-eminent that a popular by-word in the campaign has become "Leave it to Leshinsky." Mr. Leshinsky announced that he had just received a letter from his mother, sisters and brothers in Russia, and read extracts which made his auditors shiver with horror. They write that it is a common occurrence for ten and twelve people to fall dead daily on the streets from starvation. Meat costs 25,000 rubles a pound, potatoes 18,000 rubles, eggs 100,000 rubles a dozen, milk 5,000 rubles a glass. As the family was sitting up in their wretchedness wondering when their turn would come to fall from exhaustion, there was a knock at the door and they received four packages sent through the American Jewish Relief commission containing food to the value of 7,000,000 rubles, which translated into American money is $35.50.

Mr. Leshinsky has left this letter at headquarters to be shown to any one who wants to see it. The envelope is covered with stamps to the value of 15,000 rubles.

Another feature of yesterday's meeting was the announcement of a donation of $100.00 from Bright Sears & Co. which raised a great deal of applause.

Capt. Max Goldman is still in the vanguard with over $2,000. The largest daily report by the men was made by Capt. George Greenberg, due mainly to the efforts of Mr. Leshinsky.

The largest report of the ladies' team was made by Mrs. I. Quinn in pledges and cash to the amount of $978.00.

Allen Claims to
End Rheumatism

ALLENRHU relieves at once. One bottle—a full pint—will show you the way to complete recovery or your druggist will gladly return your money.

Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatism poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Hiccuped relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a week.

Mr. James H. Allen, of Congress avenue, Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the tortments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent for anyone's money unless Allenrhru shows immediate results, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee one full pint bottle in every instance. Doves' Druggist and Fred Howard can supply you.—Adv.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Toto, the artistic clown, heads the list of attractions at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, and a real attraction is Toto. His work holds the very essence of good fun. It is done so very cleverly, and has so many unusual features that grown-ups enjoy him fully as much as do kiddies. For a real, modern piece of fun-making cast in the mode of Broadway, Anger & Packer are pre-eminent. They are snappy throughout. "Holding in the Green" with Rowland & Meehan doing the holding is a decidedly good talking skit, with plenty of melodious singing sprinkled through it. Other acts on the week's bill are: Pierce & Goff, musical mads; Walsh & Edwards, in songs and dances; Adonis & Co., in an artistic novelty; and Herbert & Dare, athletic simplicity.

RAIATO THEATRE

Thousands who wish to see a wonderful story of womanly devotion and affection are flocking to the Raiato theatre and viewing Thomas H. Hoo's greatest production, "The Woman Who" which opened a week's engagement at that theatre Monday afternoon. The picture has outlasted any thing shown at the Raiato for months, for it introduces a wonderfully strong plot together with a strong dramatic plot.

As supporting features for the latter part of the week the Raiato has booked a western drama, "The Border," also a comedy and the Kinograms.

"FOOLISH WIVES" AT STRAND

One of the most remarkable productions of the motion picture world is the sensational "Foolish Wives" which is to open a seven days' engagement at the Strand beginning Sunday next. This extraordinary photoplay has already scored an unusual success in Boston and New York, and by special arrangement will be presented here for the coming week. "Foolish Wives" is the first real million-dollar picture ever made, according to the announcement from Universal, and it has been nearly two years in the making. In the famous resort of Monte Carlo, in the south of France, all of the scenes were actually photographed in Southern California. The whole city of Monte Carlo was reproduced with a perfection of detail that is amazing. Two American costumers designed the gowns. And with the single exception of Von Stroheim, who wrote the story, directed the production and played the role of the villain, all of the actors are American born. In the cast with Mr. Von Stroheim are Miss Ed. Font, Miss Busch, Maude George, Dale Fuller, Rudolph Christians and a host of others. Nearly 15,000 people were employed in the making of the picture. The story is the gay pleasure resorts in Southern France and elsewhere.

General Manager Soriero is to be commended in his efforts to secure this at such an early date. It costs extra effort and money, but these will surely be rewarded with an attendance that promises to break all local records. Remember the showing starts on Sunday next and continues for seven days.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The feature attractions at the Merrimack Square theatre today are Conrad Tearle in "A Wide Open Town" and Wanda Hawley in "Her Face Value." Clyde Cook in "The Border" is the comedy feature. Coming Monday: Wallace Reid in "The World's Champion."

THE STRAND

An interesting variety of characters is introduced in Allan Dwan's powerful drama, "The Sin of Martha Quoad," which is playing at the Strand during the week-end. Mary Thurman, as Mary Quoad, and Joseph J. Dowling as her father, are the principal characters, and both reflect exceptional ability in their respective parts. Miss Thurman, particularly, is seen to advantage in her treatment of the girl and the support accorded her is most commendable. It's a most unusual story and should make its impress on all who see it.

The second feature for the last three days of the week, Hoot Gibson in "Headin' West" is another of those enjoyable western dramas in which the star is seen in a role and story best suited to his capabilities. It has all of the satisfying elements that are found in a high-grade, superior photoplay. There is vigor enough and a love romance that will "get you" from the very start. The remainder of the program is up to the high standard with the features above mentioned. Don't miss this bill, it's a worthwhile offering.

OPERA HOUSE

Crowded houses at all performances testify to the popularity and genuine satisfaction of "Her Unborn Child," the week's production by Miss Marguerite Fields and her own company at the Opera House. It's a truly meritorious play and its interpretation by the engaging cast is artistic and of the finished sort. Although dealing in a subject that easily could be made objectionable, its treatment is such that nothing could be registered in objection to it. Tomorrow, Friday afternoon, there will be a special matinee for women folk only.

Next week—farewell week—the offering will be the big dramatic success, "A Woman's Secret."

COULDN'T FIND COPY OF
FORESTRY MAGAZINE

After searching the book stores of the city in vain for a copy of the spring number of a forestry magazine, in which he showed more than ordinary interest, Howard Melvin visited the chamber of commerce rooms early yesterday afternoon as a last resort, and although unsuccessful in his quest for information, was led into a conversation which developed the fact that his life has been far removed from the ordinary paths of the farmer or woodsman.

Among other things, Mr. Melvin was discovered to be an illustrator, more than ordinarily clever with the black crayon which he carried in his wallet. After making several sketches of natural life—oxen, cows, horses and dogs—he disclosed the fact that he received his early instruction in drawing as a pupil of Amy Alcott, one of the famous "Little Women," a book by her sister which still remains a favorite among the little girls of the present generation.

It is at present supervisor of drawing in the schools of Keene, N. H., and lives on a large farm about 21 miles away, near Walpole, N. H. He first got a start as instructor of drawing in the schools of Belmont and Concord, Mass., and of his early pupils, two are engaged at the present time in conducting classes of their own. His present interest in the forestry magazine is due to the fact that he has illustrated a story for the spring issue, and although he has received his check he has not yet been able to secure a copy of the publication.

Mr. Melvin was born in Concord,

Mass., and many years ago married a Lowell girl and removed to a large farm in South Chelmsford which his wife's grandfather had given her. There they remained until a few years ago, when Mrs. Melvin's health demanded a change in climate, and a new home was secured in New Hampshire. The South Chelmsford farm is now the residence of Rev. George C. Wright, pastor of the Free church on Middlesex street.

Mrs. Melvin's interest in nature led to the assembly of a grove of trees at the South Chelmsford homestead which included ninety varieties. Since removing to New Hampshire a grove of more than 125 varieties has been set out, including many rare specimens seldom seen in this section of the country.

Mr. Melvin, accompanied by his wife, left their home last Thursday morning on a trip to their old home, and driving through the muddy roads in their old-fashioned horse-drawn carriage, did not reach their destination until late Saturday morning. Mr. Melvin says that the roads are so bad that he will not return until the sun dries up some of the mud. Although 21 miles in two days is not to be considered rapid transit, the travelers enjoyed the journey thoroughly, although Mrs. Melvin is so exhausted that she is in no hurry for the return trip.

CHANGE ANNOUNCED
IN TIME OF LECTURE

An important change was announced by the officers of the Knights of Columbus today regarding the time of the lecture to be given here Sunday in Associate hall by Hon. Edward P. McSweeney. It was originally planned to have the noted orator deliver his address on the theme, "The Unending Struggle for Human Liberty," on Sunday afternoon, but an important meeting of the K. of C. historical committee, of which he is chairman in New Haven, Conn., on Sunday morning, prevents his getting here in time; hence, the meeting will be held in the evening at 8 o'clock. The postponement to the evening will not, it is felt, interfere with the attendance, as many people have expressed a desire to hear Mr. McSweeney. The men's mission opens at St. Patrick's and the Immaculate Conception churches on Sunday evening, but it is planned to have the speaker begin his formal talk in time to permit those who desire to hear him, and who may be in attendance at the retreats, to get to the hall before he begins.

With so much attention being focused the last few years on the struggles and the aspirations of peoples and nations for freedom and a place in the sun, with the question of Ireland's freedom well nigh a settled one, there appears to be a abundant thought for reflection in an address having to do with world freedom and the struggle for liberty.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Menthol Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Adv.

TURKEY BACK IN EUROPE

After all the talk about driving the Turk from Europe and after this had been provided for in the Sevres treaty, that agreement is now revoked or revised and Mr. Turk comes into his own again. This is undoubtedly the result of the solidarity of the Moslem world and particularly the insurgent attitude of the Moslems of India which, perhaps, more than anything else, moved Lloyd George to advocate a revision of the treaty of Sevres under which Turkey was practically banished from Europe.

Greece and Turkey have been at war in Asia Minor with varying results; the Turks fighting desperately for possession of their former territory and thus far with the advantage on their side. The new arrangement will probably satisfy neither as it consists of a sort of compromise between Turkey and Greece in which, however, the former comes back to rule Constantinople while the Greeks are allowed to hold Adrianople and the peninsula of Gallipoli. It appears that the Greeks have agreed to evacuate all of Asia Minor which goes to the Turks.

The outstanding points in the new project, as far as international relations are concerned, are first, the sudden change in the attitude of England for a greater Turkey, due undoubtedly to the desire to appease the Islam element in India and to counteract French ascendancy; and second, the reappearance of the League of Nations as a substitute for inter-allied control, not only in the Dardanelles, but in all the territories where the minority problems are likely to arise. To the league is given the task of finding a formula for the solution of the Armenian trouble although Armenia is to be under Turkish sovereignty. That is the crime and the lamentable feature of the whole transaction. To place upon the League of Nations the responsibility of finding a national home for the Armenians is little more than a farce.

Armenia is the only home for Armenians and it is not to be supposed that they would emigrate en masse to any other land, or any territory. Although they have suffered unspeakable tortures at the hands of the Turks, yet their own land is dear to them and this talk of finding them a national home elsewhere must fill the hearts of the people with anguish and despair. They want a free Armenia and this they were promised and should have. It is a piece of the darkest treachery to throw Armenia back into the hands of the Turks from whose inflictions this people suffered they had escaped.

After the Crimean war it was British interests that gave Turkey control of the straits, thus closing the Black Sea from the outer passage and depriving Russia from an outlet to the ocean for her southern commerce. Again, does history repeat itself and to pacify the Turks in India, the crescent will again float supreme over the mosques and minarets of Constantinople.

NEW CAMPAIGN ISSUE

It is now quite probable that the full campaign will see the introduction of a new issue in the form of a demand for a more liberal interpretation of the Volstead act. This view is based upon the action of the Association Against Prohibition in deciding to force the issue in ten different states for the purpose of electing congressmen favorable to their policy. The states chosen are: New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa. Other states may be selected for the purpose before November and it would not be surprising if the issue should be introduced in the senatorial campaign in this state or even in the fight for governor.

The "wets" want an interpretation of the 18th amendment that will allow the use of light wines and beer, or in brief, to substitute for the half of one per cent an alcoholic content of 3.75 per cent.

This association admits that its ultimate purpose is the repeal of the 18th amendment and that in the meantime it shall favor and encourage obedience to the prohibition laws now effective.

In support of this movement, but not so radical, is that of the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor which, while not opposing prohibition, advocates such an interpretation of the law as will permit the sale of light wines and beer. The labor men evidently are not disposed to oppose the amendment, but rather the Volsteadian interpretation.

On the other hand, the Anti-Saloon league is out as aggressively as ever to maintain and enforce the law as it stands at present.

But if political candidates find that a platform for a more liberal view of the prohibition amendment will constitute a means of ratcheting votes, they will not hesitate to adopt it. Already plans are being laid for such appeals to the voters in states other than those mentioned; but while the Volstead act may be modified, there is no probability that the prohibition amendment will ever be overthrown.

THE 40-HOUR WEEK

Henry Ford puts his employees on the 40-hour-a-week basis, with no work on Saturdays.

Every man needs two days a week for rest and recreation, says Ford.

When Henry was a young man, mechanics started their machines at 5 in the morning, but never later than 7, and the men who worked only 10 hours a day considered the holder of a soft snap.

Gradually the workers are getting the benefit of automatic machinery, increased productive methods and sensible "efficiency."

Ford's system of working gets more out of his men in 40 hours than most other factories could in 48 or 50 hours.

Imagine a long line of machinists sitting at a bench. Each is trusted to perform certain operations. After a piece of machinery is started at the head of the line, it is passed along from hand to hand until it is turned out complete and every man performs the part of the work assigned him. So every part of the Ford is turned out perfected. So continuous is this process of co-ordinated work that if one of the men wants to absent himself only for five minutes we are told that a substitute must fill his place until he returns. That comes as near to making a machine of a man as anything possibly could. Men who work under such a system do require two days a week rest.

COST OF LIVING

The cost of living continues to come down, which is good news. The fly in the ointment is, that every time the average price, slipping 10 per cent, the national debt increases 10 per cent, measured in terms of buying power.

The dollars loaned by the people to Uncle Sam during the war had an average purchasing power of about 52 cents, says Professor Irving Fisher. He points out that the money may be paid back in dollars worth 100 cents. Try to think of it in terms of buying power. Translate Liberty bonds into bushels of wheat, etc. Uncle Sam borrowed the purchasing power of one bushel of wheat but he may have to pay back two bushels.

The dollar saved now will be worth $2 later through the increase in its purchasing power.

BUSINESS TITLES

The Minging and Scientific Press takes a crack at the growing use of titles in business organizations. It used to be that a corporation's titled executives were limited to a president or vice-president and a secretary and treasurer.

Now the president usually sits on the steps of the throne. Above him is a chairman of the board of directors or a chairman of the executive committee. Or, possibly, a receiver.

When you call at the offices and are turned over to the fifth assistant deputy assistant manager of the illustrious department, you realize that industrial life is becoming as complex as the court of the Forbidden City.

ALLEN'S REPORT

Bank Commissioner Allen makes an elaborate report of his reasons for closing the five Boston Trust companies. It is hardly necessary after recent developments for the commissioner to offer any defense of his action. He had ample reasons for closing the institutions affected on account of reckless management that in some cases should have landed the officials in jail.

Undoubtedly the commissioner's action prevented a serious financial crisis in Boston and vicinity. If any fault can be found with his course in reference to the companies he closed up, it is that he should have arrested the mismanagement before it wrecked the institutions.

COMMISSIONER CURTIS

The death of Police Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis of Boston brings up a review of his long career as a public official. He was one of the few republicans elected mayor of Boston and in every position he held, he proved himself to be a man of high courage and strict integrity. But it was his firmness and courage in handling the Boston police strike that won widespread commendation; and yet for this, Governor Coolidge got the credit that in reality belonged to Curtis. Vice-President Coolidge would not fill the position he holds today but for Edwin U. Curtis.

CIVIL SERVICE

Attorney General Daugherty expresses the opinion that the civil service is a hindrance to government efficiency, and it certainly is, in some respects and in some departments. If this be true in the federal service, much more so is it true of municipal departments where common laborers are placed under the civil service. We believe our street department could be much more efficiently handled without civil service interference.

April 4 will be the fourth anniversary of our declaration of war against Germany made at the appeal of President Wilson, who hesitated until the nation's rights were trampled upon, its integrity challenged and its spirit of patriotism aroused. Then, and not till then, did the president determine upon a solemn declaration of war.

This date is to be made the occasion of adding generously to the Woodrow Wilson Foundation of $1,000,000, of which $700,000 has already been raised. It would not be surprising if the balance should be made up on that date.

With the use of the airplane, Explorer Amundsen should be able to take pictures of the polar regions and surroundings and bring back to civilization detailed information such as has never before been obtained. The use of wireless will also aid in keeping the various parts of the expedition informed as to their relative positions and the conditions they encounter. There can no longer be any spot on the earth surface beyond the reach of man.

A good many people are asking just what this civil service examination for postmaster of Lowell really amounts to if it be a foregone conclusion that none but a loyal republican can be appointed.

This is the time for the general spring cleanup. The board of health wants everybody to help in making it a success.

SEEN AND HEARD

Even your worst enemy probably has no idea how mean you could be if you wanted to.

Wise men cultivate the art of taking things easy. Too bad more of us can't get that way.

"Pinky" says the only thing wrong with the game of rummy is the name and the double dealer who catches you with a handful of big ones.

Mrs. William Bliss of Whitman has a Rex begonia which many believe to be the largest in the country. Some of the branches are seven feet long and the entire plant fills a large bay window in her home. Some of the blossoms, which are a bright pink, are seven by four inches in size.

Thought For Today

I will strive to raise my own body and soul daily into all the higher powers of duty and happiness, not in a selfish or contention with others, but for the help, delight and honor of others and for the peace and joy of my own life.—John Ruskin.

A Word a Day

Today's word is pernicious. It's pronounced—per-nish-us, with accent on the second syllable. It means—destructive, dangerous, evil, ruinous, fatal, harmful, mischievous. It comes from—Latin, "perniciosus," destruction. It's used like this—"The four-power treaty was passed despite the belief of a group in the senate that it was a pernicious document."

Pullman Bertha

(Note: Please blame this on an English joke writer.) A minister on a visit to America asked for a Pullman berth, and was told that there was a difference of 50 cents between an upper and a lower berth. The minister pointed: "The lower is higher than the pointed." The higher price is for the lower. If you want it lower you'll have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. Most people don't like the upper, although it is lower, on account of being higher. When you occupy an upper berth you have to get up to go to bed and get down to get up.

The New Postmaster

The inhabitants of a small village at last got a postoffice, with the grocer for postmaster, and their pride in their acquisition was at first unbounded. When complaints began to come in, the postoffice department sent an inspector to investigate. "What becomes of the letters posted here?" the inspector demanded. "The people say they are not being sent off." Of course they ain't," was the response as the grocer pulled back hanging in a corner. "Ain't sent it off because it ain't anywheres near full yet."

Had Lovely Time

Little Dorothy had just returned from a short visit to her Aunt Elsie in Washington when a minister made his annual call upon her very religious mother. After her mother had dutifully seated him on the plush sofa in front of the fire, the minister turned to Dorothy. "Well, my dear, did you have a nice time at your Aunt Elsie's?" "O, yes," replied Dorothy promptly. "And what did you do?" "Well, mother, I went to the very loveliest Thunday school. The music played, the shade went up and all the girls danced!"

Grandmother's Daughters

Grandmother's parlor was musty and green paper window shades shut out the light. Vases and candlesticks stood on a hand-knitted table were spotlessly white. Gay Brussels carpet was laid on the floor. Sofa and chairs were upholstered in black. Slippery haircloth that made me of you. Feel that an iceberg was next to my back.

There was a whatnot, its shelves cluttered up with queer little jugs from some far-away land and a saucer and cup. Sheba that still whispored of ocean and sand. Quaint steel engravings were hung on the walls. Shapely beauties in ringtons and slays. Ruth with the gleamers, Niagara Falls. Art of the old-fashioned Godey's Book days.

But grandmother's chairs never broke in the springs. Grandmother's carpet wore forty-old years. Grandmother's pantry was full of good things. Grandmother's taxes were not in arrears. Grandmother's colds were but simple affairs.

Easily cured with a plaster and pill. No silly appendix took her unawares. She was too busy for any such ill.

Grandmother's attic was sweet with the scent of herbs hanging up in the rafters. Of herbs hanging up in the rafters. Also her collar was a play with blent. Fragrance of gillflower and North-ern Bay.

Grandmother never adopted a fad. Never aspired to a life in the city. But judging the case by the blessings she had.

Grandmother's daughters should have all the pity.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

HELLO, SPRING!

Hello there, Spring! your scheduled arrival
Is due—or overdue, I ought to say;
Right now begins your annual revival
Subject, of course, to natural delay.

Your show is billed as pastoral and gentle
And that is what we hope to gaze upon,
But oftentimes when you are temperamental
You put a 'four-act melodrama on.

Instead of opening with scented breezes
And lambs that gambol on the village green,
You start with roaring storms and sleet that freezes
And snow deep-drifted over all the scene.

When that occurs we naturally grumble,
Such wintry dope we audibly deplore,
"This show," we groan, "is merely rough and tumble.
It isn't what we paid our money for."

But still we know, before your act is over—
No matter how it starts—you'll change your style
And romp before us, knee deep in the slobber,
Beaming before us with your tender smile.

We trust, this year, you'll start the way you finish,
Blithesome and sweet, in winsome loveliness,
Making our winter weariness diminish—
But we're prepared for rough-stuff, more or less.

However, you are here, distinctly present,
No matter what the weather is you bring,
We greet you, quite determined to be pleasant,
Hello there, Spring!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

According to the census bureau, it appears that in 1920 for the first time the number of factory workers exceeded those engaged on farms. The professions, which term includes lawyers, literary and scientific persons, physicians, teachers, clergymen, musicians, actors, architects, electricians, engineers and journalists, also show great attraction and a large percentage of increase to their ranks. The number having grown from 372,000 in 1870 and 944,000 in 1890 to 1,235,000 in 1900, and 2,152,000 in 1920. It seems that the movement toward specialization is rapidly increasing.

Parents should give more attention to the fitting of shoes and stockings to their children, or Nature will exact her heavy penalty. It is in life, causing discomfort and decreased efficiency physically, says a bulletin issued by the National Association of Chiropractors. Several "don'ts" are listed by the bulletin as follows: "Don't send to a shoe store for children's shoes and purchase the size you think is proper, leaving the child to grow into them." "Don't attempt to force the child to wear shoes when it complains of discomfort. It is cheaper to buy new ones than to pay a doctor later." "Don't buy cheap shoes; many times they cause expensive doctor's bills later." "Don't buy shoes in which the child's toes are within one-half inch of the end, when the child is standing." "Don't imagine you are buying shoes 'long enough' by measuring the bottom of the shoe with the sole of the foot. Let the shoe salesman use the regulation foot measure apparatus in the store." "Don't purchase stockings for a child unless there is at least one-half inch of space ahead of the toes, allowing for shrinkage." "Don't buy narrow toed shoes for children; there are many excellent makes of broad toed shoes on the market." "Don't put high heels on young girls."

It has been brought to my notice that the Very Rev. John B. O'Connor, the noted Dominican preacher and author has added another volume to his writings. It is entitled "Monasticism and Civilization." The book deals exhaustively with the influence of monastic institutions, not only on religion and education, but on agriculture, industry, the arts and municipal and state governments. Fr. O'Connor is a former Boston man, and is a brother of Charles S. O'Connor, who ran for mayor and State Senator Patrick O'Connor.

Farmers are already out gunning for farm hands. They want young men with experience, of course, but men without experience who are willing workers, and ready to observe farmer's hours are also welcome. Men who have no family encumbrances are preferable to those who have wives depending upon them as, in most cases, no provisions are made for women. This information is from the office of the public employment bureau in Boston. Men in this section, who are out of work, would do well to get in touch with farmers in suburban towns as work is soon to start in the country. If the present warm weather holds, farmers are planning on larger crops than ever this coming season so there should be plenty of work for the unemployed.

MAN EXECUTED IN BELFAST, IRE.

BELFAST, March 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—The death of Samuel Mallen, whose body was found in the White Rock road yesterday, appears to have been in the nature of an execution. It is learned that he was seized and was escorted to the place where his body was afterwards discovered. LOWLY ONION BECOMES LUXURY

CHICAGO, March 30.—The lowly onion rose from a common vegetable nearly to the rank of delicacy, and easterners were reported eating Egyptian importations as a result of diminishing supplies, and a big jump in price, according to the United States bureau of markets weekly fruit and vegetable review made public yesterday.

Onion prices were the highest since 1917, having increased $2.50 and $3.50 per 100 pounds in leading eastern cities.

As an indication of the cause of the company's embarrassment, debts due on open accounts were said to amount to $207,553. WOMAN SCARES BURGLARS AWAY

An emphatic demand of "Who's there?" from the Mrs. of Mrs. Mary M. Cunningham, recently put to flight two burglars who had broken into her house at 17 Hoyt Ave. in the night time. Her words frightened away the burglars before they had time to take anything. Alone in the house and in bed, Mrs. Cunningham, who had retired for the night, was awakened about 2 o'clock by the opening of her chamber door. Knowing that no member of the family would open the door without first knocking, Mrs. Cunningham pluckily ran up in bed and demanded to know who the intruder was. A startled moneylender answered her question and she immediately heard the steps of two persons running down the hall. A back door slammed and all was silent. Mrs. Cunningham telephoned to her son, who in turn called the police. An investigation showed entrance had been made by forcing a window on the second floor in the rear of the house.

SOVIET ENVOYS AT RIGA

Delegates to Genoa Conference Arrive in Good Spirits—Soldiers on Guard

RIGA, March 29.—(By the Associated Press).—Members of the Russian soviet delegation to the Genoa conference, all apparently in excellent spirits, arrived here this morning. Soldiers and police were on guard at the depot. George Chicherin, the soviet foreign minister and head of the delegation in the absence of Premier Lenin, was among the first to alight on the platform and greet Latvian officials. He paced the platform for exercise and talked to the correspondents for a few moments without making any announcements of importance and then went into breakfast.

The soviet party traveled on a train of eight cars hauled by two wood-burning locomotives. They were accompanied from the frontier by 24 soldiers. A price must be paid in all wage fights of this kind. We have paid the price with one human life, but if we can go to the end with as clear a conscience as we have now, let the burden and blame rest where it is, we will be satisfied that we have fought a clean fight, and a good one.

STRIKE LEADERS TO SEEK INJUNCTION

PROVIDENCE, R. Lynch from enforcing his new regulations governing the picketing of mills in that district unless the sheriff voluntarily modified them. New rules by Sheriff Lynch limit the strikers to three pickets at each plant at Hope, Arkwright and Pontiac. The strikers say they should be allowed 15 or 20 men at each mill and announced that such numbers would be sent out this afternoon and that court action would be resorted to if they were prevented from going on the picket line.

More than 500 strikers from the Blackstone Valley marched on the state house this noon and jammed the corridors in a demonstration intended to bring about some action by the senate on the Lavender 48 hour bill, which has been held in committee in the upper branch since its passage by the house two weeks ago today. MISS STONE IN TEARS ON STAND

Woman Accused of Killing
Ellis Guy Kinkead Testifies Between Sobs

Tells of Alleged Marriage Ceremony and Illegal Operation—Near Collapse

NEW YORK, March 30.—Miss Olivia
H. P. Stone wept today as she went on the witness chair in supreme court in Brooklyn in her trial for slaying
Ellis Guy Kinkead, former corporation counsel of Cincinnati.

Between sobs, she began telling of how, as a trained nurse, she went to Yale Hall in Atlantic City, May 18,
1918, to attend Kinkead.

Her story contained an account of an alleged marriage ceremony she had gone through with Kinkead at Atlantic City, on May 23, 1918, and an illegal operation at the Jersey resort in September of the same year.

Miss Stone seemed on the verge of a complete breakdown as she gave her testimony.

Miss Stone began her story at the point where she began nursing Kinkead during an illness at Atlantic City.
Five days after she went on the case,
she said, he proposed and she accepted.
On the steps of the city hall, she said, he told her that there was another woman in Cincinnati who had a claim on him and that he could not go through a formal ceremony just then. He slipped a wedding ring on her finger, she said, and told her he was so prominent a lawyer that he knew the simpler ceremony was just as legal and he had enough influence to straighten the whole matter out.

She said she believed him and that they then went to the Marlborough-Blenheim and registered as man and wife.

the civil authorities who announced that in the future the strikers will be at liberty to send as many men to the plant as they wish. Similar action will probably be taken, it was said, at other mills in the Pawtuxet valley.

The decision to give up the attempt to restrict picketing was made by Deputy Sheriff Lowell N. Whitman, in charge of the situation at Arkwright, and followed, he said, the refusal of Judge Felix Hebert of the fourth district court to issue warrants for the arrest of two men "for violating the picket law."

Judge Hebert informed him, Sheriff
Whitman said, that there was no statute under which anyone could be arraigned for picketing.

Up to today the strikers had been limited to three pickets at the Interlaken plant. This morning there were 30 on hand. Deputy Sheriff Whitman, Chief of Police Wood of Coventry, and national guard cavalry, were present, but offered no objection to the gathering.

The pair whose arraignment Sheriff
Whitman asked under the non-existent picket law, were arrested last night, when the strikers carried out their announced intention of testing the three picket rule. They were finally held on a charge of obstructing the sidewalk.

LAWRENCE, March 30.—The strike

so far today that it was estimated not more than 800 were working. When the week closed Saturday, there were about 21,000 on the pay rolls. Of the idle ones, 7000 went workless by the others the workers present today were

JURY QUICKLY SECURED

To Try Twitchell and Mc-Donald on Charge of Murdering Woodsman

DOVER-PONCROFT, Me., March 30.—
A jury was quickly secured at the opening today of the trial of Allen
Twitchell of Pittsfield and George H.
McDonald of Brewer, charged with the murder of William Campbell, a woodsman of Russian descent, at Northport, Carry, near the head of Mooseland Lake, last September. Chas.
C. Hill of Willimantic, was appointed foreman. The trial was expected to continue through tomorrow.

County Attorney Harold M. Hayes, in opening for the state, said it was the theory of the prosecuting officers that Campbell was shot for the purpose of robbery by the two respondents while he was in bed at a farm house, after which his body was hurled in a shallow grave in an adjoining field.

He stated that they explained his disappearance by saying that he attacked Twitchell with a knife, was killed in self defense, and ran into the woods in his underclothes.

NOTED TWINS DIE AS THEY LIVED

Josefa's Death Followed Within Few Seconds by Passing of Her Sister

Rosa Was Once Married—
Survived by 11-Year-Old Boy—Husband Killed

CHICAGO, March 30.—Josefa and Rosa Blazek, the "Siamese twins," died at a hospital here early today. Jose-fa's death occurred first and was followed in a few seconds by the death of her sister. Physicians had declared early in the night that in the event of the death of one of the sisters the other would die quickly as their brother, Frank Blazek had refused to permit an operation which would sever their bodies.

The twins had been in the hospital
10 days, Josefa was ill with yellow jaundice and that was followed by pneumonia. Shortly before her death,
Rosa was afflicted with bronchitis.
Preparations had been made for the severing operation and the physicians were ready to make every effort to save the life of at least one of the women.

Although the twins possessed separate respiratory and cardiac systems, Dr. Brackstone, chief of the surgical department, said that the twins had been joined at the chest.

Deputy Chief Downey this noon received word from Capt. Thomas R. Atkinson that he and Inspector Maher were on their way back from Ellisa-beth, N. J., with Carl Castor and Fred Richards, the two local men wanted here in connection with the thefts of several autos and several store breakins. The men were apprehended by the New Jersey police Monday morning after which the local police were notified.
Acting Supt. MacBrayne and Captain
Atkinson made a hurried trip to Boston the following day to start work of extradition.

Atkinson and Maher left on the midnight train Wednesday and evidently had little trouble in extraditing the men as the telegram received today said they were leaving Elizabeth at 1 o'clock.

WORD OF APPRECIATION FOR LOWELL ELKS

The appreciation and gratitude in one staunch soldier's heart simply had to come out as the result of the fine way he and his pals were treated by a delegation of Lowell folks.

Last Monday night the Lowell Elks entertained more than 500 disabled soldiers who are confined in the Parker Hill hospital in Roxbury. Yesterday Samuel Scott, exalted ruler of the lodge, received a letter "from a buddy" which must have more than repaid for the efforts spent to make the soldiers happy for a night at least. The letter follows:

U. S. P. H. Hospital No. 35,
125 Parker Hill Ave.,
Roxbury, Mass.,
March 27, 1922.

Mr. Samuel Scott,
Exalted Ruler, Lowell, B.P.O.E.
Dear Sir:—I wish to thank you and your brother "Elks" and the ladies who were so kind as to give us a very good evening's entertainment at our Red Cross hut last evening. I do not know when I enjoyed an evening so much as last night. The talent was fine; you would have to travel very far to even duplicate it, let alone beat it.

I was so pleased that I just had to drop you these few lines of thanks. I hope some day to thank you all personally and when I do I will do so by joining the "Elks" and becoming a member of the "Best fellows in America."

Again I thank you all. From a buddy in a hospital.

WILLIAM E. ROCHFORD,
Ward X.

More Appreciation

Another fine letter regarding the entertainment was received this afternoon by James E. Donnelly, who was in charge of the affair. The letter comes from Sec. Curran of the service men's entertainment committee.

Thanks to Mr. Donnelly and the local Elks' organization is extended by the writer in behalf of the Massachusetts Elks' association. The letter said that the boys were overjoyed by the entertainment and that many of them had gone to the Red Cross hut at 5 o'clock, immediately after supper, so they might get good seats for the performance. Mr. Curran says it was the "greatest show ever produced at Parker Hill."

WATCH FOR FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

BOSTON, March 30.—Dr. Lester H. Howard, director of the division of animal industry, issued a statement yesterday afternoon regarding the present danger of an invasion of foot-and-mouth disease, and urging veterinarians, inspectors of animals and producers to take steps to prevent it. His statement says:

"The attention of all veterinarians, inspectors of animals, owners, dealers, slaughterers, and all other persons having to do with cattle, sheep, or swine is called to the present danger of an invasion of foot-and-mouth disease by its transmission from foreign countries where it is now very prevalent and with which this country has intimate trade relations, notably South America, Great Britain and the countries of continental Europe."

"We should be alert for the first appearance of the disease in order that an outbreak may be immediately surrounded. Prompt action is vital to our livestock interests should we again be so unfortunate as to have our herds invaded by this disease."

"Wire, telephone or send by messenger to this office report of any suspicious cases brought to your attention."

"From January 1 to March 5 it appeared in 956 herds in Great Britain, necessitating the slaughter of 43,735 animals."

INSTANTLY KILLED AT TOP OF POLE

NORTHAMPTON, March 30.—Patrick Foley, aged 30, lineman for the New England Telephone and Telegraph company, was instantly killed in Haydenville yesterday afternoon. He was working on a pole when a tremendous voltage went over the wire. It is believed the severe wind caused a contact between electric light and telephone wires. Mr. Foley fell over the crossbar and when taken to the ground life was extinct.

Dr. C. H. Welch of Haydenville and B. W. Brown of Northampton were summoned and worked for two hours with a pulmotor, but without effect. Mr. Foley's wife died a few years ago and he leaves a little boy.

He was soon to be married to a telephone operator.

Benson's arrest resulted in an investigation that showed he had broken into churches in Hartford, Conn., and El Paso, Tex. Benson's case aroused much interest because of a safe-breaking school diploma found in his possession, and he was characterized as a "certified safe-breaker." An attorney declared Benson fully responsible for his acts.

MAN KILLED IN

AUTO COLLISION

BOSTON, March 30.—David J. Harrington, 76, of 22 Pleasant street, Somerville, died at the Somerville hospital last evening as a result of injuries received yesterday morning when he was pinned against a telephone pole at the corner of Highland avenue and Walnut street, Somerville, by an automobile. Following the accident his left leg was amputated above the knee at the hospital. Death came at 6:30 P. M.

Mr. Harrington was about to cross Walnut street at Highland avenue when a car operated by Charles A. Reynolds of Cambridge, making the turn there, struck a machine operated by Alphonso LaCasse of Malden and knocked it upon the sidewalk, where it pinned Mr. Harrington against the pole. LaCasse was later arrested for driving without a license or a certificate of registration.

SOME POINTERS ON ADVERTISING

First Evening Forum Meeting by the Lowell Advertising Club

Interesting Discussion on Advertising as Viewed From Different Angles

The first evening forum meeting of the Lowell Advertising club, with local men as speakers and each subject open for discussion, was held in the chamber of commerce rooms last night. "Community Advertising—What Is It?" and "Some Suggestions from a Composing Room Foreman," were the main topics, and were ably discussed by Secretary-Manager George P. Wells of the chamber of commerce and John V. Donoghue, foreman of The Sun composing room, respectively. A discussion of the relative value or effectiveness of various advertising media was the third and last feature of the program, and Willard A. Parker of the Carleton & Hovey Co. led the discussion on this subject.

In the absence of President Frank Rieard, who is attending a jeweler's convention in Worcester, Miss Grace Burns of the Chalfoux company, vice president of the club, presided capably and introduced the various speakers. Mr. Wells was the first to be introduced and began the discussion of his topic by explaining what community advertising really is. First, he said, that the selling of the city is the objective of community publicity. Advertising may be used in various ways for selling a specific thing, such as a suit of clothes, or to draw people to a given spot. The object in all cases is to lead people to the thing advertised.

There are two classes of community advertising, said Mr. Wells: first, the inhabitants of the community; second, the advertiser. A city must live up to its slogan, this care having been taken in its selection. The people must believe in the spirit of its own community or it will never make any progress. The fundamentals of community spirit are good civic administration, schools, streets, housing, playgrounds, parks and working conditions.

Mr. Wells suggested following the example of the westerner abroad, who forgets the discouraging elements of his country, and speaks of it in glowing terms as the "Land of Sunshine," etc.

There are two kinds of advertising, honest and dishonest, and no city can afford to be dishonest. A circus ad is suited to circuses, where nothing is real, but not to a city where everything has a basis of reality. A campaign of education cannot be taken before a vivid picture of the city is at hand. Standing advertising, as community advertising is impractical.

No city can afford to go before the people of other localities unless they can offer one advantage which it possesses above all others. Variety is the spice of life, said Mr. Wells, and one must have an unusual offering to attract the inhabitants of some other place to come to the community which is advertising itself.

As an example of exaggeration, Mr. Wells read a booklet designed to advertise a city which he did not name. The text was so wildly untruthful and misleading that it repelled rather than attracted its readers.

Mr. Wells closed by reciting the campaigns conducted by Los Angeles, New Orleans, Kansas City, San Francisco, Atlanta and Miami as excellent examples of the fact that advertising pays. A notable case was the case of Los Angeles, which city started advertising itself in 1889, with a population of about 60,000, and now has a population of 750,000.

Composing Room Thoughts

John V. Donoghue was the next speaker. He stated, in beginning, that the composing room might make many suggestions to advertisers. In order that they might understand the making of a modern newspaper a little better, he conducted them in spirit through a composing room, showing them the various details connected with preparing a newspaper for publication.

Donoghue said that the printer, getting the ads ready for the forms, said the speaker, it is sometimes beyond the bounds of human possibility to get out an ad in the middle of the week on account of the mass of work already confronting the compositor for the current issue.

He offered three suggestions, however. The first was that one side only of the paper should be written on, and that a typewriter should be used if available, so that the copy might be legible as possible. Secondly, he recommended that the advertiser leave it to the discretion of the compositor to use taste and discrimination in making up the display. In connection with this he said that printers, as a general rule, believe in "bright" advertising; that is, leave a considerable white space about the reading matter. Although it is a trifle more expensive, the total of one large advertiser who had proved this method of advertising successful, although the average advertiser does not believe the "bright" is necessary for attraction.

His third suggestion was that advertisers get their copy in early. Mr. Donoghue said that he realized the varying nature of this section of the country made it necessary at times to hold up the copy until the last minute, so that the proper article might be advertised. However, it would do the members of the Ad club a world of good to select a day for a trip through one of the local newspaper plants to see the work in operation; they might then realize that faith, co-operation and knowledge of conditions are necessary in successful advertising.

The speaker then discussed the various kinds of type in successful advertising for ads, also, the length of columns in various newspapers. He said, however, that the advertiser who had made it fool-proof the million in getting out papers would be reached. He declared, however, that few people have any idea of the immense amount of detail necessary in getting out a paper.

Mr. Donoghue and one thought he wished to leave with them, get the copy in as early as possible, and, if possible, leave the set-up to the discretion of the compositors, getting better service in return.

Ways of Advertising

Mr. Willard A. Parker of the Carleton & Hovey company gave a thorough discussion of various methods of advertising: newspapers, house to house, car store window, poster, etc. He brought out the good and bad features of each, but stated that he would give 40 per cent of his advertising to newspapers, 20 per cent each to house to house and window display, 15 per cent to street car and 5 per cent to poster advertising.

The discussion which followed, was featured by a controversy between Benjamin Pouzner of the Telegram and Mr. Parker. Mr. Pouzner voiced a desire to see the local papers built up according to the methods of a famous New York paper, with the large ads on the bottom and the small ads on the top, leaving the more conspicuous part of the page to the news, for which he claimed, the public bought the paper. Mr. Parker was of the opinion that the advertising matter should be given primary position, since it brought in more revenue than the news, but Mr. Pouzner's rebuttal seemed to find favor with a good majority of those present.

RED GUARDS SHOOT DOWN WORSHIPPERS

MOSCOW, March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Four parishioners were killed and 10 were wounded when red guards fired into a crowd which was obstructing the doorway of a provincial church to an endeavor to prevent the authorities from executing the recent Soviet government decree for the confiscation of church treasures. It was learned in Moscow yesterday.

The confiscation committee, unarmed, had previously entered the church at Shuya, in the Province of Ivanovo-Voznesensk, and requested the surrender of the treasures, according to the report published by the Izvestia. The congregation indignantly protested and the committee departed.

The version published by the newspaper here said members of the congregation struck the authorities as they were leaving the church. The following day the officials returned with a detachment of soldiers. A crowd assembled and refused to disperse, whereupon the red guards fired a volley in the air. When the crowd became threatening and throw stones at the soviet officials, the guards opened fire in earnest.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE FOR POINCARE

PARIS, March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—The government of Premier Poincare received a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies yesterday, 405 votes to 157, on the army service question. By this vote the deputies defeated the eight-month military service bill, sponsored by Paul Boncour, moderate socialist.

Voting on the measure came after Premier Poincare and War Minister Maginot committed the government to the measure providing for army service for a period of 18 months and asked that the subject be made a question of confidence in the ministry. The chamber now has before it two bills relating to the period of army service, one for 12 months and the other, the government measure, for 18 months.

BOSTON, March 30.—A distinguished company of jurists, representatives of legal associations, and of friends, attended the funeral yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Old South church, Copley square, of Judge John Wilkes Hammond, a retired justice of the Massachusetts supreme court, who died last Sunday afternoon at his home, 337 Harvard street, Cambridge. Rev. Dr. George A. Gordon, pastor of the church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Boynton Merrill, associate pastor. Henry E. Wray, organist of the church, played.

The honorary pallbearers were Hon. Arthur P. Rugg, chief justice of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts, Hon. Henry N. Sheldon, a retired justice of the supreme court and vice president of the Boston Bar association; Moorfield Storey, Dr. Ellsworth B. Joslin, Hon. William B. Stevens of Boston formerly a justice of the supreme court; Hon. James M. Morton, also an ex-member of the court; George I. Mayberry, Prof. Samuel J. Williston of the Harvard Law school; Edward B. Bayley, chairman of the standing committee of the Old South church; Arthur D. Hill, Hon. John D. McLaughlin, a justice of the superior court, and Edmund Beardon of Cambridge.

The active pall bearers included Robert Benjamin, Ferdinand Jelke, Guido Pantalone and William Wallace, all of the Harvard Law school, and the ushers were Andrew Marshall, Harold S. Davis, John Gordon, Malcolm C. Sherman and Frederick Foster.

The church was well filled with attorneys and court officials who had been associated with Judge Hammond during his career on the bench or had come into frequent contact with him in other ways. Among these was James S. Burbank of Mattapoisett, who was a pupil of Judge Hammond in the public schools of that community in 1861. Justices Brady, Devereux, Crosby, Jenney and Pierce of the supreme court were also present, as well as Judge Charles J. McIntyre, a retired justice of the probate court, who represented the Middlesex Bar association. The Middlesex Bar association

THREE ARLINGTON BOYS ADMIT 14 BREAKS

ARLINGTON, March 30.—The numerous cash register robberies in Arlington, Belmont and Cambridge during the past few weeks were the work of three Arlington lads, still in their teens, according to confessions made yesterday by Chief Urquhart of the Arlington police.

The boys are Sidney C. Plankton, 16 years old, of 1 Henry street; Frank H. W. Egan, 17 years old, of 889 Massachusetts avenue; and William J. Lynch, 17 years old, of 961 Massachusetts avenue.

The total amount of money stolen by the trio in the 14 breaks to which Chief Urquhart says the boys have owned up, was about $1000. The boys were captured as the result of a break in the new Junior high school in Arlington Heights. Here a student's savings bank was broken open and $1 secured. Lunch counter tickets were also taken. When the trio began giving away some of the tickets Chief Urquhart learned of it and with Patrolman Belyea, rounded up the three.

The boys told the chief that in only one instance were they in danger of being caught. This was in the break at the Panopaeus fruit store on Terrace road, Belmont, where six Belmont policemen surrounded the store. The youths thought the police would be looking for adult burglars, and so, when the crowd began to press in, the burglars mingled with the throng, while the police searched for them in vain. One of the lads carried at the time, a .38-calibre automatic pistol he had obtained in the store, and later this was found by the police in an old mattress in a cave at Arlington Heights, used as a "den" by the three boys.

DEBATE ON GENERAL FAR EASTERN TREATY

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(Herald)—The senate of the two arms conference treaties limiting the navies of the great powers and restricting the use of submarines and poison gas, had cleared the way for debate today on the general Far Eastern treaty.

It was the hope of the administration leaders that this pact along with the Chinese tariff treaty, would be ratified during the present week. Without amendments or reservations being proposed to either, the senate ratified the naval limitation treaty yesterday by a vote of 74 to 1, and then almost without debate approved 71 to 0, the pact designed to prevent submarine operations against merchantmen and to outlaw chemical warfare altogether. Senator Francis, republican, Maryland, cast the only vote against the limitation treaty.

HOPE OF HALTING BIG COAL STRIKE AVERTED

NEW YORK, March 30.—The high of idleness exempt today to be already descending upon the unionized coal industry of the nation. The anthracite miners and operators' sub-committee on wages continued negotiations abandoned all hope of halting the strike set for April 1 and entrenched themselves for a long struggle over the conference table.

Strike notices have been posted in both the bituminous and anthracite fields, Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, announced. Union miners, 555,000 strong, will lay down their tools at midnight tomorrow, when their present working contract with the operators will expire, he said.

GRANITE CUTTERS VOTE ON WAGE CUT

BOSTON, March 30.—Failure of the Granite Cutters' International union to accept the new working agreement offering cutters, polishers and sharpeners a minimum hourly wage of 80 cents instead of the present $1 rate, will mean establishment of the American plan (open shop) in New England sheds, the board of control of the Granite industry announced today. The proposed agreement would go into effect on April 1, and be effective for two years. The proposal also provides for a change in wages should there be a 10 per cent. increase or decline in living costs.

James Duncan, president of the union today declared that at least seven New England locals had already rejected the latest offer. Others are now voting on it, he said, in order that the union's answer may be in the producers' hands by midnight tomorrow, when the present agreement expires.

Mr. Duncan named the following locals as having refused the offer to date: Quincy, Hardwick, Vt.; Concord, N. H.; Westbury, R. I.; North Jay, Me.; Redstone, N. H.; and Williamstown, Vt.

SISTER BARGES HARD AGROUND

SANDWICH, March 30.—The barge D. J. Mulqueen, Jr., of the Hughes line, was aground today near the breakwater at the eastern entrance to the Cape Cod canal. Half a mile away, her sister barge, the Katherine, was hard aground near the Southwest breakwater. Neither was damaged.

The barge, bound empty from Boston to New York, broke from their tow, the tug Col. John Dana, of New York, in a gale last night. It was expected that both would float at high tide today.

Persons having a waist measure greater than 33 inches are not permitted to enter the crystal caverns of He-quia National park.

PLAYING NO FAVORITES

Sheriff-Bartender Said, "Am the Law, Cannot Be Arrested"—Lands in Jail

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., March 30.—Being a cafe proprietor and a special deputy sheriff doesn't mean anything to prohibition officers. Samuel Constantine, combined sheriff and bartender, flashed his shield when he was arrested yesterday for violating prohibition laws and claimed immunity. "I am the law," he said, "I cannot be arrested."

He is now in jail waiting hearing.

ONE WAY OF GETTING SHOES

In the morning mail at the chamber of commerce today was a post card from an individual in Paterson, N. J.,

asking for a sample of shoes and boots. Reflecting upon this rather unusual request, it was considered that requests might have been sent to chambers of commerce in other cities, asking for other articles of clothing, and in that way a complete wardrobe might be secured if these eccentric demands were granted.

After due deliberation the post card went to the waste basket.

COD LIVER OIL MAN IN MOSCOW STREETS

MOSCOW, March 30.—The "cod liver oil man" is the latest addition to the picturesque sights of Moscow's streets for which the American relief administration is responsible. After the fashion of the once familiar milkman, he drives around daily, a huge cask mounted on a truck, his route including all the day nurseries and children's homes. There is no charge.

The reports of the relief administration, however, make no mention of the children's "delight" at the sight of the truck or of their gratitude to the kind Americans for this particular form of relief.

AMERICAN INDIANS TAKE UP GOLF

CHICAGO, March 30.—And now the American Indians have taken up golf. Many of the Aborigine caddies of the courses in Arizona having procured clubs and by imitating the white man became fairly proficient in the game that is played more universally than any other sport.

At the new Ingleside club, near Phoenix, Ariz., young bucks from nine different tribes have gained considerable proficiency. With the natural swing begotten of loose joints, the slinky muscles of the keen-eyed red skin drive far and straight.

Priests Consider Plans to Erect Church to House Famous Statue of Ste. Anne

QUEBEC, March 30.—Blackened, fire-scorched walls today marked what up until yesterday, was the Basilica of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, commonly called the "Lourdes of North America." The Shrine of the Monastery of the Redemptorist Fathers, to which tens of thousands of afflicted persons have turned their footsteps in the hope of finding relief from suffering, was almost completely destroyed before the fire had burned itself out.

Undismayed the Redemptorists today were considering plans for rebuilding the edifice to house the famous statue of Ste. Anne and the relics of the guardian spirit of the place. The damage done by the fire was estimated at $1,000,000. The insurance was reported to be about $600,000.

State Welfare Officers Probe Manner in Which She Obtained Two Babies

LOGANSPORT, Ind., March 30.—Mrs. Helen Libby, 41 years old, wife of a traveling salesman, employed by a Chicago concern, was placed in jail last night pending investigation by state welfare officers into the manner in which she obtained two babies, both less than three months old, who she is alleged to have represented to her husband as being their children.

Mrs. Libby said her husband was absent from home at his work much of the time and that for this fact, she expected no trouble in perpetrating the imposition.

RADIO APPARATUS FOR "Wired Wireless" Solves the Problem of Babel of the Air

BOSTON, March 30.—Boston's fire fighting fleet may soon be directed by radio orders, sent to the vessels in any part of the harbor from fire department headquarters at Bristol street. Acting Fire Commissioner John Manning said today that the purchase of receiving and sending radio apparatus for each of the fire vessels and for the central station, was now under consideration.

Radio orders, he said, would tend to increase greatly the mobility and the speed of the fire boat force.

MAJ. GEN. GEORGE O. SQUIER "PLUGS IN" ON HIS ELECTRIC LIGHT CIRCUIT AND LISTENS TO RADIO MESSAGES.

(By HARRY B. HUNT) WASHINGTON, March 30.—"Wired wireless" solves the problem of the babel of the air created by radio enthusiasts.

Maj. Gen. George O. Squier, chief signal officer of the United States army, explained today how his development of "wired wireless" can be applied.

pled to practical problems of radio broadcasting and receiving.

Sitting at his desk in his office in the Munitions building, General Squier turns the switch of his electric desk lamp.

Immediately the strains of a violin solo by Miltch Elman flood the room, coming from an ordinary radio-receiving set in one corner.

System Is Simple

"There's nothing startling about it," says Squier, snapping off the switch. "For years we have been broadcasting all sorts of things by means of our electric lighting circuits—flat irons, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, dishwashers, curling irons, fans."

"Now by this system of controlled radio, we simply broadcast radio waves over a definite network of wires and into homes and offices in a definitely known zone, instead of sending them out at random to help confuse the ether."

Radio New Exclusive

"One of the biggest handicaps to radio, heretofore, has been its all-inclusiveness. By this new method, radio may be made exclusive."

"Washington, for instance, may broadcast for its citizens concerns, lectures, news-bulletins or any sort of information or entertainment without disturbing the ether for Baltimore or other nearby towns."

"By assigning wave-lengths, any number of broadcasting stations can feed messages into the Washington circuit, for Washington consumption, without cluttering up the ether for general radio work."

"This exclusiveness can be carried much further. Any hotel or building having its own electric system, can become a self-contained radio circuit. With a radio amplifier in each room, connected with the hotel's own electric circuit, it would be possible for the music of the orchestra in the main dining room to be broadcasted to every guest room."

Possibilities Infinite

"The possibilities are infinite. Both for business and personal uses, the development of a method of controlled radio immeasurably broadens the field of its practicable use."

"By making possible intensive radio broadcasting within the limits of a given city or community, without affecting the ether for other cities or for long distance radio communication, wired wireless greatly simplifies the problem of radio regulation."

You Merely "Plug In"

"The same sort of plug that is on the end of your flat-iron cord or your vacuum cleaner connection connects your radio-receiving set with the city's electric circuit."

"Then you can get off that circuit whatever radio messages are put on it—get them clearly, sharply, distinctly, without any fading in and fading out, and without interference from outside broadcasting stations or experimenting amateurs."

"And while others are not bothering you, while you're getting this local broadcasting, the ether is left unaltered for broadcasting, the ether communication as if all local 'wired wireless' stations were silent."

CRAMPS, PAINS AND BACKACHE

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had backache and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles."

Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in this Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner. This is noted, by the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms.

Brig. Gen. Cole—Question of Keeping Faith

BOSTON, March 30.—Brig. Gen. Chas. H. Cole, commander of the State Department of the American Legion, in sending out an advisory message concerning the soldiers' bonus, to the 213 Legion posts in Massachusetts yesterday, declared that "no more important domestic question confronts our country today than this question of keeping faith with and redeeming public promises to the men who fought the war."

General Cole declared that the whole issue of adjusted compensation should be down to the question of whether the government, which paid fabulous sums to laborers and contractors who worked at home, will do as it promised and allow an average of $3-a day to the men who risked their lives and their fortunes to protect their country.

He said that adjusted compensation in some form or another has been under consideration by congress since the summer of 1915, and that the present bill is the outgrowth of numerous legislative suggestions, and is the result of many conferences and hearings. He stated that it represented the best aggregate thought on the subject.

The general declared that a good many thousands of men must have cash and cannot be interested in any other form of compensation, and that it is manifestly unfair to penalize a man merely because he is in immediate need of financial aid.

He stated that the Adjusted Compensation bill has the support of the vast majority of Legion men. He said that it does not provide a bonus, nor a gratuity for patriotic services rendered, but makes an appropriate adjustment of the economic losses sustained by reason of that service, and that the Legion believes that the economic lot of the soldier who sacrificed his life to his country should be made somewhere near equal to the lot of the laborer who remained at home, "secure from danger, receiving a wage two or three times that of the soldier."

"That there is intrinsic justice in this claim is shown by the fact that other nations have long ago adjusted the compensation of their fighters," he said.

AWARDED $25,000Newark Girl Wins Breach of Promise Suit

NEWARK, N. J., March 30.—A jury yesterday gave Miss Mollie Weiss, 21, a verdict of $25,000, after deliberating only 25 minutes on her breach of promise suit against Irving Finkelstein, 29, store manager. The verdict was for the full amount asked.

Miss Weiss identified Finkelstein as the father of her baby daughter, and said he obtained her promise of marriage in August, 1919. He refused to wed her, she said, after the baby was born in April, 1921.

HELPED HER LITTLE GIRL

Children need all their strength for growing. A lingering cold weakens them so that the system is open to attack by more serious sickness. Mrs. Amanda Flint, Route 4, New Philadelphia, O., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured my little girl of the worst tickling cough. I had tried many things and found nothing to help until I got Foley's Honey and Tar." Gives immediate relief from distressing, racking, tearing coughs; soothes and heals. Good for colds, croup and whooping-cough.

NAVY TO TRANSFER ITS FOR NERVOUS
ALASKA COAL MINES INDIGESTION

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The navy department's entire investment in Alaskan coal fields, principally the Chickaloon mine, will be transferred to the department of the interior effective next May 1, it was announced yesterday by Secretary Fall.

Transfer of the navy department's investment was proposed recently by Secretary Denby in a memorandum to Secretary Fall. It was agreed at the cabinet meeting yesterday, Secretary Fall said, that the transfer would be made as of May 1.

The navy's investment amounted to $1,100,000 for the development of the Matanuska field, in which is the Chickaloon mine, where approximately 40,000 tons of coal has been blocked out. Diamond drilling has developed 2,500,000 tons at Cold Creek, two and one-half miles from Chickaloon.

ATTITUDE OF SHIPPING BOARD DENOUNCED

NEW YORK, March 30.—A committee representing creditors of the United States Mail Steamship company yesterday issued a statement charging that the attitude taken toward them by the United States shipping board is "rapidly becoming a scandal in the eyes of the maritime world."

"Although Congress has set aside $5,500,000 for the specific purpose of paying the innocent creditors," continued the statement, "the shipping board may decline to pay these bills until the claimants have gone through costly and almost interminable litigation."

"We represent 600 New York merchants and contractors, who, trying to do their share toward building up an American merchant marine, suffered financially to the extent of about $1,500,000. We knew that the world over, where merchandise is delivered in good faith to ships, bills therefor are considered as liens against the ships."

"When the bankruptcy of the United States mail line came we discovered the government had turned over $5,000,000 worth of its ships to a company which had neither cash nor credit, and from which it had not even required a bond. The shipping board now claims the line was responsible for the debts, not the government."

REGISTRATION FOR AUTOMOBILE COURSE

Tonight is the final opportunity for registration in the university extension course in gasoline automobiles being held weekly at the high school, under the direction of John J. Gildea, instructor. The course is fairly well filled, but there is room for others who wish to know more about the inside workings of the cars they drive.

Mrs. Showers Trembled All Over
Before She Found the Remedy

"I would have attacks of indigestion no matter how little I ate," says Mrs. Emma Showers of No. 170 Glad street, Marion, Ohio, "and would have terrible pains in my stomach. My tongue was coated and I had a bitter taste in my mouth. Some nights I couldn't sleep. I had such suffocating nervous spells. Sometimes I would tremble all over with nervousness. I had a dull headache and a soreness across my stomach."

"An article in a newspaper started me taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I could notice quite a difference after the first box. The attacks of indigestion were not as frequent nor as severe. After two more boxes I could see a great change. My nerves were stronger, the trembling stopped and I could get a good night's rest. I do not have the stomach pains at all now, I can eat anything I want and am stronger and better in every way."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are particularly useful in nervous dyspepsia because they build up the blood, strengthen the nerves and tone up the digestive organs. If your case is similar to that of Mrs. Showers, you owe it to yourself to give the remedy a trial.

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," which tells about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box.

WAR ON BEGGARS AND PANHANDLERS IN HUB

BOSTON, March 30.—Acting Police Commissioner Crowley last night issued the following general order in regard to beggars and peddlers on the street. Police Commissioner Curtis, just before he went to his home on Tuesday, had a conference on this matter with the superintendent and others interested in the matter and ordered that the general order be issued and made public.

"The order reads: 'Since the arrival of good weather it is noticeable that our streets, especially in the business section, are being infested with persons who although holding hawkers and peddlers' licenses have no right to occupy the streets as they are being used at the present time unless the said persons are licensed at a designated stand by the board of street commissioners. It has also been reported that panhandlers and beggars are becoming numerous all over the city and many requests have been made of the police to prosecute the offenders.'

"The Family Welfare society and the Overseers of the Public Welfare, 43 Hawkins street, will aid worthy and needy persons who reside in Boston and who are found begging upon the streets.

"Division commanders will instruct all officers and will see that this order is strictly complied with, either by warning or prosecution."

Bitter Feud Ends in Duel

In riding gloves and backed in Wilson's case, with a weight of specially trained bone and muscle.

Criley won. According to the Examiner the feud was of long standing, arising from a quarrel after a New Year's festivity.

Wilson left for Honolulu early in the year. His vacation time was spent in training, walking, swimming and boxing. He returned in fine trim.

It was stated that Mrs. Criley exacted a promise that her husband would not strike the first blow. At the hour for the combat, the principals arrived. Wilson paced off a space the size of a ring. Old English rules were approved providing that a knockdown constituted a round and for intervals of three minutes between rounds. Wilson stepped into the ring, stripped to his undergarments and waited while Criley removed his glasses and his coat. With a cry of "Now" Wilson landed the first blow. There was little sparring. The men stood chest to chest and traded blow for blow.

The second round was shorter. Wilson went down again. Five rounds were fought, according to witnesses.

At last Wilson stayed down. "You win," he said, "but don't think I am through with you. I've just begun."

"I am always at your service," replied Criley. Criley was formerly a business man and retired to devote his time to the study of landscape painting.

Mrs. Criley has been under a doctor's care since the affair. "The whole thing was childish," Criley said. "It was schoolboy stuff."

Lowell's Relief Fund Quota
is Nearing the Half Way
Mark

Reports in the Lowell Jewish War Relief campaign drive for $25,000 submitted at the noon meeting yesterday totaled over $10,000 and latest reports from the workers last night indicated the great probability that the $12,000 mark will be passed before tonight. The success of the campaign so far has

How a Cough Remedy
Raffled an Automobile

Mr. Patrick J. Kane is a well known railroad man of New London, Connecticut, and Master of a lodge which gives sick benefits to its members. On account of the great amount of illness among the members, the funds in the Treasury ran very low, and it became necessary to get money. It was decided to raffie an automobile. Then the members of the lodge started out to sell tickets. They talked every minute that they had from their duties and were very successful, but it was a great strain upon their voices. The big wind-up was made at the Stafford, Connecticut, Fair. There several of the members talked almost continuously for three days. At night they were thoroughly worn out, hoarse, and almost speechless, with the exception of Mr. Kane, who used his throat just as much as any of the rest, but kept his voice clear and himself free from fatigue. When his co-workers asked how he did it, he put his hand in his pocket and brought out a bottle of Cerizane.

"There," he said, "a few drops of that once in a while kept me fit." So the boys of the lodge say that Cerizane deserves much of the credit for the successful raffling of the automobile.

Mr. Kane has used this remedy before and recommended it to many others. He says that for any form of coughs and colds, and any such affliction as cold in the head, hoarseness, sore throat, pain in the chest, there is nothing so good as Cerizane.

"This is an old remedy that has been made for nearly a hundred years, by the Wilsons of Boston. It is absolutely free from chloroform, narcotics, or other harmful drugs. Any reliable druggist will sell it to you."

inspired the workers with the greatest enthusiasm.

A big feature of the meeting was supplied by Abraham Leshinsky, the hardest working and best single producer among the workers. His results have been so pre-eminent that a popular by-word in the campaign has become "Leave it to Leshinsky." Mr. Leshinsky announced that he had just received a letter from his mother, sisters and brothers in Russia and read extracts which made his auditors shiver with horror. They wrote that it is a common occurrence for ten and twelve people to fall dead daily on the streets from starvation. Meat costs 25,000 rubles a pound, potatoes 18,000 rubles, eggs 100,000 rubles a dozen, milk 6,000 rubles a glass. As the family was sitting up in their wretchedness wondering when their turn would come to fall from exhaustion, there was a knock at the door and they received four packages sent through the American Jewish Relief commission containing food to the value of 7,000,000 rubles, which translated into American money is $35.00.

Mr. Leshinsky has left this letter at headquarters to be shown to any one who wants to see it. The envelope is covered with stamps to the value of 15,000 rubles.

Another feature of yesterday's meeting was the announcement of a donation of $100.00 from Bright Sears & Co. which raised a great deal of applause. Capt. Max Goldman is still in the vanguard with over $2,000. The largest daily report by the men was made by Capt. George Greenberg due mainly to the efforts of Mr. Leshinsky.

Allen Claims to
End Rheumatism

ALLENRHU relieves at once. One bottle, a full pint—will show you the way to complete recovery or your druggist will gladly return your money.

Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatism out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a week.

Mr. James H. Allen, of Congress Avenue, Rochester, N. Y., who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent for anyone's money unless Allenrhue shows immediate results, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee one full pint bottle in every instance. Dows Druggist, and Fred Howard can supply you.—Adv.

H. K. KEITH'S THEATRE

Toto, the artistic clown, heads the list of attractions at the H. K. Keith theatre, this week, and a real attraction is Toto. His work holds the very essence of good fun. It is done so very cleverly, and has so many unusual features that grown-ups enjoy him fully as much as do the kiddies. For a real, modern place of fun-making cast in the mode of Broadway, Anger & Packer are pre-eminent. They are snappy throughout. "Holding Up the Green," with Rowland & Meehan doing the holding is a decidedly good talking skit, with plenty of melodious singing sprinkled through it. Other acts on the week's bill are: Pierce & Gott, musical maids; Walsh & Edwards, in songs and dances; Adonis & Co., in an artistic novelty; and Herbert & Dare, athletic simplicity.

RIALTO THEATRE

Thousands who wish to see a wonderful story of womanly devotion and affection are flocking to the Rialto theatre, and viewing Thomas H. Ince's greatest production, "Hail the Woman," which opened a week's engagement at that theatre Monday afternoon. The picture has outlasted anything shown at the Rialto for months. It introduces a wonderfully strong cast together with a strong dramatic plot. A supporting feature for the latter part of the week the Rialto has booked a western drama, "Hell's Border," also a comedy and the "Kino-grams."

"FOOLISH WIVES" AT STRAND

One of the most remarkable productions of the motion picture world is the sensational "Foolish Wives," which is to open a seven days' engagement at the Strand, beginning Sunday "next." This extraordinary photoplay has already scored an unusual success in Boston and New York, and by special arrangement will be presented here at the Strand. "Foolish Wives" is the first real million-dollar picture ever made, according to the announcement from Universal, and it has been nearly two years in the making.

Although the story is laid in the famous resort of Monte Carlo, in the south of France, all of the scenes were actually photographed in Southern California. The whole city of Monte Carlo was reproduced with a perfection of detail that is amazing. Two American costume designers designed the gowns. And with the single exception of Von Stroheim, who wrote the story, directed the production and played the role of the villain, all of the actors are American born. In the cast (with Mr. Von Stroheim) are Miss Du Pont, Mae Busch, Maude George, Dale Fuller, Rudolph Christians and a host of others. Nearly 15,000 people were employed in the ensembles showing the crowds in the key pleasure resorts in Southern France and elsewhere.

General Manager Soriero is to be wonder picture for local presentation commencing in his early date. It costs extra effort and money, but these will surely be rewarded with an attendance that promises to break all local records. Remember the showing starts on Sunday next and continues for seven days.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The feature attractions at the Merrimack Square theatre today are Conrad Talaro in "A Wide Open Town" and Wanda Hawley in "Her Face Value." Clyde Hawk in "The Forester" is the comedy feature. Coming Monday: Wallace Reid in "The World's Champion."

THE STRAND

An interesting variety of characters is introduced in Allan Dwan's powerful drama, "The Sin of Martha Queed," which is playing at the Strand during the week-end. Mary Thurman, as Mary Queed, and Joseph J. Dowling as her father, are the principal characters, and both reflect exceptional ability in their respective parts. Miss Thurman, particularly, is seen to advantage in her treatment of the girl and her support recorded here is most commendable. It's a most unusual story, and should make its impression on all who see it.

The second feature for the last three days of the week, Hoot Gibson in "Headin' West" is another of those enjoyable western dramas in which the star is seen in a role and story best suited to his capabilities. It has all of the satisfying elements that are found in a high-grade, superior photoplay. There is vigor enough and a love romance that will "get you from the very start. The remainder of the program is up to the high standard with the features above mentioned. Don't miss this bill, it's a worth-while offering.

OPERA HOUSE

Crowded houses at all performances testify to the popularity and genuine satisfaction of "Her Unborn Child," the week's production by Miss Marguerite Fields and her own company at the Opera House. It's a truly meritorious play and its interpretation by the finished sort. Although dealing in a subject that easily could be made objectionable, its treatment is such that nothing could be registered in objection to it. Tomorrow, Friday afternoon, there will be a special matinee for women folk only.

Next week—farewell week—the offering will be the big dramatic success, "A Woman's Secret."

COULDN'T FIND COPY OF

After searching the book stores of the city in vain for a copy of the spring number of a "Forestry Magazine," in which he showed more than ordinary interest, Howard Melvin visited the chamber of commerce rooms early yesterday afternoon as a last resort, and although unsuccessful in his quest for information, was led into a conversation which developed the fact that his life has been far removed from the ordinary paths of the farmer or woodsman.

Among other things, Mr. Melvin was discovered to be an illustrator, more than ordinarily clever with the black crayon, which he carried in his wallet. After making several sketches of natural life—oxen, cows, horses and dogs—he disclosed the fact that he received his early instruction in drawing as a pupil of Amy Alcott, one of the famous "Little Women," a book by her sister which still remains a favorite among the little girls of the present generation.

He is at present supervisor of drawing in the schools of Keene, N. H., and lives on a large farm about 21 miles away, near Walpole, N. H. He first got a start as instructor of drawing in the schools of Belmont and Concord, Mass., and of his early pupils, two are engaged at the present time in conducting classes of their own. His present interest in the forestry magazine is due to the fact that he has illustrated a story for the spring issue, and although he has received his check he has not yet been able to secure a copy of the publication.

Mr. Melvin was born in Concord,

Mass., and many years ago married a Lowell girl and removed to a large farm in South Chelmsford where his wife's grandfather had given her. There they remained until a few years ago, when Mrs. Melvin's health demanded a change in climate, and a new home was secured in New Hampshire. The South Chelmsford farm is now the residence of Mr. George C. Wright, pastor of the Free church on Middlesex street.

Mrs. Melvin's interest in nature led to the assembly of a grove of trees at the South Chelmsford homestead which included ninety varieties. Since removing to New Hampshire, a grove of more than 125 varieties has been set out, including many rare specimens seldom seen in this section of the country.

Mr. Melvin, accompanied by his wife, left their home last Thursday morning on a trip to their old home, and driving through the muddy roads in their out-fitted horse-drawn carriage, did not reach their destination until late Saturday morning. Mr. Melvin says that the roads are so bad that he will not return until the sun dries up some of the mud. Although 91 miles in two days is not to be considered rapid transit, the travelers enjoyed the journey thoroughly, although Mrs. Melvin is an exhausted that she is in no hurry for the return trip.

Mr. Melvin is well acquainted about Lowell, and says that he made a great many friends in this city while doing jury duty. He acts at times as correspondent for one of the local papers, but devotes most of his attention to his drawing and forestry occupations.

IN TIME OF LECTURE

An important change was announced by the officers of the Knights of Columbus today regarding the time of the lecture to be given here Sunday in Assessor hall by Hon. Edward J. McSweeney. It was originally planned to have the noted orator deliver his address on the theme, "The Unending Struggle for Human Liberty," on Sunday afternoon, but an important meeting of the K. of C. historical commission, of which he is chairman in New Haven, Conn., on Sunday morning, prevents his getting here in time; hence, the meeting will be held in the evening at 8 o'clock. The postponement to the evening will not, it is felt, interfere with the attendance, as many people have expressed a desire to hear Mr. McSweeney. The men's mission opens at St. Patrick's and the Immaculate Conception churches on Sunday evening, but it is planned to have the speaker begin his formal talk in time to permit those who desire to hear him, and who may be in attendance at the retreats, to get to the hall before he begins. With so much attention being focused the last few years on the struggles and the aspirations of peoples and nations for freedom and a place in the sun, with the question of Ireland's freedom well high a settlement, there appears to be abundant thought for reflection in an address having to do with world freedom and the struggle for liberty.

TURKEY BACK IN EUROPE

After all the talk about driving the Turk from Europe and after this had been provided for in the Sevres treaty, that agreement is now revoked or revised and Mr. Turk comes into his own again. This is undoubtedly the result of the solidarity of the Moslem world and particularly the insurgent attitude of the Moslems of India which perhaps, more than anything else, moved Lloyd George to advocate a revision of the treaty of Sevres under which Turkey was practically banished from Europe.

Greece and Turkey have been at war in Asia Minor with varying results; the Turks fighting desperately for possession of their former territory and thus far with the advantage on their side. The new arrangement will probably satisfy neither as it consists of a sort of compromise between Turkey and Greece in which, however, the former comes back to rule Constantinople while the Greeks are allowed to hold Adrianople and the peninsula of Gallipoli. It appears that the Greeks have agreed to evacuate all of Asia Minor which goes to the Turk.

The outstanding points in the new project, as far as international relations are concerned, are first, the sudden change in the attitude of England for a greater Turkey, due undoubtedly to the desire to appease the Islam element in India and to counteract French ascendancy; and second, the reappearance of the League of Nations as a substitute for inter-allied control, not only in the Balkans, but in all the territories where the minority problems are likely to arise. To the league is given the task of finding a formula for the solution of the Armenian trouble although Armenia is to be under Turkish sovereignty. That is the crime and the lamentable feature of the whole transaction. To place upon the League of Nations the responsibility of finding a nation more than a force, Armenia is the only hope for Armenians and it is not to be supposed that they would emigrate en masse to any other land, or any territory. Although they have suffered unspeakable tortures at the hands of the Turks, yet their own land is dear to them and this talk of finding them a national home elsewhere must fill the hearts of the people with anguish and despair. They want a free Armenia and this they were promised and should have. It is a piece of the darkest treachery to throw Armenia back into the hands of the Turks from whose inflictions this people suffered when it had escaped.

After the Crimean war it was British interests that gave Turkey control of the straits, thus closing the Black Sea from the outer passage and depriving Russia from an outlet to the ocean for her southern commerce. Again does history repeat itself and to pacify the Turks in India, the crescent will again float supreme over the mosques and minarets of Constantinople.

It is now quite probable that the fall campaign will see the introduction of a new issue in the form of a demand for a more liberal interpretation of the Volstead act. This view is based upon the action of the Association Against Prohibition in deciding to force the issue in ten different states for the purpose of electing congressmen favorable to their policy. The states chosen are: New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa. Other states may be selected for the purpose before November and it would not be surprising if the issue should be introduced in the senatorial campaign in this state or even in the fight for governor.

The "wet" want an interpretation of the 18th amendment that will allow the use of light wines and beer, or in brief, to substitute for the half of one per cent an alcoholic content of 2.75 per cent.

This association admits that the ultimate purpose in the repeal of the 18th amendment and that in the meantime it shall favor and encourage obedience to the prohibition laws now effective.

In support of this movement, but not so radical, is that of the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor which, while not opposing prohibition, advocates such an interpretation of the law as will permit the sale of light wines and beer. The labor men evidently are not disposed to oppose the amendment, but rather the Volsteadian interpretation.

On the other hand, the Anti-Saloon league is out as aggressively as ever to maintain and enforce the law as it stands at present.

But if political candidates find that a platform for a more liberal view of the prohibition amendment will constitute a means of carrying votes, they will not hesitate to adopt it. Already plans are being laid for such appeals to the voters in states other than those mentioned; but while the Volstead act may be modified, there is no probability that the prohibition amendment will ever be overturned.

THE 40-HOUR WEEK

Henry Ford puts his employees on the 40-hours-a-week basis, with no work on Saturdays.

Every man needs two days a week for rest and recreation, says Ford. When Henry was a young man, mechanics started their machines at 5 in the morning, but never later than 7, and the man who worked only 10 hours a day was considered the holder of a great snap.

Gradually the workers are getting the benefit of automatic machinery, increased productive methods and sensible "efficiency."

Ford's system of working gets more out of his men in 40 hours than most other factories could in 48 or 50 hours.

Imagine a long line of machinists sitting at a bench. Each is trained to perform certain operations. After a piece of machinery is started at the head of the line, it is passed along from hand to hand until it is turned out complete and every man performs the part of the work assigned him. So every part of the Ford is turned out perfected. So continuous is this process of co-ordinated work that if one of the men wants to absent himself only for five minutes we are told that a substitute must fill his place until he returns. That comes as near to making a machine of a man as anything possibly could. Men who work under such a system do require two days a week rest.

COST OF LIVING

The cost of living continues to fly down, which is good news. The fly in the ointment is that every time average prices slump 10 per cent the national debt increases 10 per cent, measured in terms of buying power.

The dollars loaned by the people to Uncle Sam during the war had an average purchasing power of about 52 cents, says Professor Irving Fisher. He points out that the money may be paid back in dollars worth 100 cents. Try to think of it in terms of buying power. Translate Liberty bonds into bushels of wheat, etc. Uncle Sam borrowed the purchasing power of one bushel of wheat but he may have to pay back two bushels.

The dollar saved now will be worth $2 later through the increase in its purchasing power.

BUSINESS TITLES

The Mining and Scientific Press takes a crack at the growing use of titles in business organizations. It is used to be that a corporation's titled executives were limited to a president or vice-president and a secretary and treasurer.

Now the president usually sits on the steps of the throne. Above him is a chairman of the board of directors or a chairman of the executive committee. Or, possibly, a receiver.

When you call at the office and are turned over to the fifth assistant deputy assistant manager of the fused oil department, you realize that industrial life is becoming as complex as the court of the Forbidden City.

ALLEN'S REPORT

Bank Commissioner Allen makes an elaborate report of his reasons for closing the five Boston Trust companies. It is hardly necessary after recent developments for the commissioner to offer any defense of his action. He had ample reasons for closing the institutions affected on account of reckless management that in some cases should have landed the officials in jail. Undoubtedly the commissioner's action prevented a serious financial crisis in Boston and vicinity. If any fault can be found with his course in reference to the companies he closed up, it is that he should have arrested the mismanagement before it wrecked the institutions.

COMMISSIONER CURTIS

The death of Police Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis of Boston brings up a review of his long career as a public official. He was one of the few Republicans elected mayor of Boston and in every position he held, he proved himself to be a man of high courage and strict integrity. But it was his firmness and courage in handling the Boston police strike that won widespread commendation; and yet for this, Governor Currier got the credit that rightfully belonged to Curtis. Vice-President Currier would not fill the position he holds today but for Edwin U. Curtis.

CIVIL SERVICE

Attorney General Dougherty expresses the opinion that the civil service is a hindrance to government efficiency, and it certainly is, in some respects and in some departments. It is true, the federal service, much more so, is true of municipal departments where common laborers are placed under the civil service. We believe our great department could be much more efficiently handled without civil service interference.

April 6 will be the fourth anniversary of our declaration of war against Germany made at the appeal of President Wilson, who hesitated until the national rights were trampled upon, his civility challenged and his spirit of patriotism aroused. Then, and not till then, did the president determine upon a solemn declaration of war.

This date is to be made the occasion of adding generously to the Woodrow Wilson Foundation of $1,000,000, of which $700,000 has already been raised. It would not be surprising if the balance should be made up on that date.

With the use of the airplane, Explorer Amundsen should be able to take pictures of the polar regions and surroundings and bring back to civilization detailed information such as has never before been possible. The use of wireless will also aid in keeping the various parts of the expedition informed as to their relative positions and the conditions they encounter. There can no longer be any spot on the earth surface beyond the reach of man.

A good many people are asking just what this civil service examination for postmaster of Lowell really amounts to if it is a foregone conclusion that none but a loyal republican can be appointed.

This is the time for the general spring cleaning. The board of health wants everybody to help in making it a success.

SEEN AND HEARD

Even your worst enemy probably has no idea how mean you could be if you wanted to.

Also men cultivate the art of taking things easy. Too bad more of us can't get that way.

"Phony" says the only thing wrong with the game of punny is the name and the double milder who catches you with a handful of big ones.

Mrs. William Blives of Whitman has a Rex bagonia which many believe to be the largest in the country. Some of the branches are never feet long and the entire plant fills a large bay window in her home. Some of the blossoms, which are a bright pink, are seven by four inches in size.

Thought For Today

I will strive to raise my own body and soul daily into all the higher powers of duty and happiness, not in rivalry or contention with others, but for the help, delight and honor of others and for the peace and joy of my own life.—John Ruskin.

A Word A Day

Today's word is pernicious. It's pronounced—per-nish-us, with accent on the second syllable. It means—destructive, dangerous, evil, ruinous, fatal, harmful, mischievous. It comes from—Latin, "pernicies," destruction. It's used like this—"The four-power treaty was passed despite the belief of a group in the senate that it was a pernicious document."

Pullman Bertha

(Note: Please blame this on an English joke writer.) A minister on a visit to America asked for a Pullman berth, and was told that there was a difference of 50 cents between an upper and a lower berth. The attendant pointed: "The lower is higher than the upper. The higher price is for the lower. If you want it lower you'll have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. Most people don't like the upper, although it is lower, on account of being higher. When you occupy an upper berth you have to get up to go to bed and get down to get up."

The New Postmaster

The inhabitants of a small village had just got a postoffice, with the proper for postmaster, and their pride in their acquisition was at first unbounded. When complaints began to come in that letters were not being sent off, the postoffice department sent an inspector to investigate. "What becomes of the letters posted here?" the inspector demanded. "Of course they don't get sent off," the people answered. "The post office is a large and empty mail sack hanging in a corner. Ain't sent it off because it ain't anywhere near full yet."

Had Lovely Time

Little Dorothy had just returned from a short visit to her Aunt Elsie in Washington when the minister made his annual call upon her very religious mother. After her mother had dutifully seated him on the plush sofa in front of the fire, the minister turned to Dorothy. "Well, my dear, did you have a nice time at your Aunt Elsie's?" "O, yes," replied Dorothy, promptly. "I had a lovely time." "Well—and what did you do?" pursued the minister. "O, I went to the loveliest Thursday school. The music played, the shade went up and all the girls danced!"

Grandmother's Daughters

Grandmother's parlor was musty and dark. Green paper window shades shut out the light. Vases of candles stood on a mark. Hand-knit table were spotted with gay Brussels carpet was laid on the floor. Sofa and chairs were upholstered in black. Slippery haircloth that made one of yore. Peel that an iceberg was next to my back.

There was a whatnot, its shelves cluttered up. With little jugs from some far-away land. Wee china trinkets, a sampler and cup. Shells that still whispered of ocean and sand. Quiet steel engravings were hung on the walls. Smiling beauties in rapiers and stays. With the gleamers, Niagara Falls. Part of the old-fashioned Godley's brook days.

But grandmother's chair never broke in the springs. Grandmother's carpet wore forty odd years. Grandmother's pantry was full of good things. Grandmother's taxes were not in arrears. Grandmother's colds were but simple affairs. Easily cured with a plaster and pill. No day's appendix took her unaware. She was too busy for any such ill.

Grandmother's attic was sweet with the scent of herbs hanging up in the rafters to dry. Also her cellar was spicy with blend fragrance of gilliflowers and North-gate Spy.

Grandmother never adopted a fad. Never aspired to a life in the city. But judging the case by the blessings she had.

Grandmother's daughters should have all the pity.

—MINNA IRVING, in New York Herald.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

HELLO, SPRING!

Hello there, Spring! your scheduled arrival
Is due—or overdue, I ought to say;
Right now begins your annual revival
Subject, of course, to natural delay.

Your show is billed as pastoral and gentle
And that is what we hope to gaze upon,
But oftentimes when you are temperamental
You put a four-act melodrama on.

Instead of opening with scented breezes
And lambs that gambol on the village green,
You start with roaring storms and sleet that freezes
And snow deep-drifted over all the scene.

When that occurs we naturally grumble,
Such wintry dope we audibly deplore,
"This show," we groan, "is merely rough and tumble."
It isn't what we paid our money for."

But still we know, before your act is over—
No matter how it starts—you'll change your style
And romp before us, knee deep in the clover,
Beaming before us with your tender smile.

We trust, this year, you'll start the way you finish,
Blithesome and sweet, in winsome loveliness,
Making our winter weariness diminish—
But we're prepared for rough-stuff, more or less.

However, you are here, distinctly present,
No matter what the weather is you bring,
We greet you, quite determined to be pleasant,
Hello there, Spring!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

According to the census bureau, it appears that in 1920 for the first time the number of factory workers exceeded those engaged on farms. The professions, which term includes lawyers, literary and scientific persons, physicians, teachers, clergymen, musicians, actors, architects, electricians, engineers and journalists, also show great attraction and a large percentage of increase to their ranks, the number having grown from 372,000 in 1870 and 944,000 in 1890 to 1,238,000 in 1900, and 2,152,000 in 1920. It seems that the movement toward specialization is rapidly increasing.

Parents should give more attention to the fitting of shoes and stockings to their children, or Nature will exact her heavy penalty later in life, causing discomfort and decreased efficiency, physically, says a bulletin issued by the National Association of Chiropodists. Several "don't's" are listed by the bulletin as follows: "Don't send a shoe store for children's shoes and purchase the size you think is proper, leaving the child home." "Don't attempt to force the child to wear shoes when it complains of discomfort. It is cheaper to buy new ones than to pay a doctor later." "Don't buy cheap shoes; many times they cause expensive doctor's bills later." "Don't buy shoes in which the child's toes are within one-half inch of the end, when the child is standing." "Don't imagine you are buying shoes long enough by measuring the bottom of the shoe with the sole of the foot. Let the shoe salesman use the regulation foot measure apparatus in the store." "Don't purchase stockings for a child unless there is at least one-half inch of space ahead of the toes, allowing for shrinkage." "Don't buy narrow toed shoes for children; there are many excellent makes of broad toed shoes on the market." "Don't put high heels on young girls."

It has been brought to my notice that the Very Rev. John B. O'Connor, the noted Dominican preacher and author has added another volume in his writings. It is entitled "Monasticism and Civilization." The book deals exhaustively with the influence of monastic institutions not only on religion and education, but on agriculture, industry, the arts and municipal and state governments. Fr. O'Connor is a former Boston man, and is a brother of Charles S. O'Connor, who ran for mayor and State Senator Patrick O'Connor.

Farmers are already out gunning for farm hands. They want young men with experience, of course, but men without experience who are willing workers and ready to observe farmer's hours are also welcome. Men who have no family commitments are preferable to those who have wives depending upon them as, in most cases, no provisions are made for women. This information is from the office of the public employment bureau in Boston. Men in this section, who are out of work, would do well to get in touch with farmers in suburban towns as work is seen to start in the country if the present warm weather holds. Farmers are planning on larger crops than ever this coming season so there should be plenty of work for the unemployed.

STRIKE AT SEA; SHIP WRECKED

Crew Refused to Work When Captain Failed to Put in
With Damaged Schooner

Ship Then Ran Aground and
All Were Forced to Take to Open Boat

BOSTON, March 30.—A strike at sea that caused, or contributed to, the shipwreck of the striking sailors and others of the crew of the schooner Ricameron, was described today when the 11 men were brought here by the collier Penobscot. The collier had taken them off the Great Round Shoal lightship in Nantucket sound, where they had found refuge after a day adrift in pelting rain and heavy fog in an open boat with a makeshift mast and a sail patched up by piecing together two blankets.

Word had preceded their arrival by wireless to the effect that the Ricameron was wrecked while there was a mutiny aboard. Captain Richardson, who like nine others of the crew, is a negro, said it was not a mutiny so much as a strike. Whether any charges will be brought against the seamen who refused to work, was still under consideration today.

The Ricameron, a four masted schooner in New York, had loaded soft coal at Norfolk for Calais, Me., when it was found she was leaking badly. She was pumped dry, patched some, and started on her way last Friday, with the verbal agreement between captain and crew, the men asserted, that she would put in at New York instead of trying to make the long run down east in her leaking condition.

The pumps controlled the leaks so well that Captain Richardson decided it was safe to continue and Monday morning the sailors found out that the Ricameron had passed New York and was heading up Long Island sound. They protested and refused to work any more. It was a strike without orders, the sailors merely sitting around in the fore-castle, while the captain went ahead to shift as well as possible.

He had available as assistants State Richardson, his brother, Engineer Carlsen, who was the only white man, the boatswain and the cook.

They shifted sail well enough on Monday, but Tuesday a heavy fog set in and about 4:30 a. m. the morning the schooner struck Middle Rip Shoal in Nantucket sound, skidded across the sand for a time, then stuck fast. Strikers and workers stood by until 1:30 the former still refusing duty, when the rudder was shaken off and the wheel jumped out. Then, in rain and fog, all took to the open sea in the only boat without knowing where they were.

At 3 o'clock that afternoon, chilled by exposure, after Captain Richardson had fired five shots from a revolver to attract attention, they discovered the Great Round Shoal lightship, and were taken in and kept until the Penobscot took them off.

Harding and Congress at

Loggerheads

Never a Time in Last Quarter

Century When Relations

Were More Pleasant

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Congress and President Harding are not at loggerheads, despite the impression created by "certain writers and certain newspapers," Representative Mondell, Wyoming, republican leader, declared today in a statement which he said he had prepared for delivery as an address in the house.

The fact is that instead of the president and congress being at loggerheads, as these writers and journals would have the country believe, stated Mr. Mondell, "there never has been a time in my quarter of a century of experience in congress when the relations between the president and congress, particularly the house of representatives, were more pleasant, cordial, sympathetic and harmonious than at the present time."

"The republican leader said he invited comparison with any period of American history and challenged anyone to find a record of 'finer relations or more harmonious co-operation' between the president and congress."

Mr. Mondell asserted that "the anti-bonus campaign of certain metropolitan newspapers has given us the finest example we have yet had as to the length to which some people are willing to go in a campaign of misrepresentation." Efforts are also being made, Mr. Mondell declared, to make it appear that there is a wide rift between the president and republican leaders in congress over legislation affecting the army and navy.

"I venture the assertion," he stated, "that the president's view with regard to the military establishment is much more nearly in harmony with the action which has been taken by the house than it is with the attitude of the majority of the newspapers and newspaper writers, who have assumed to know and to promulgate his views."

staff at the hospital, explained that they had only one set of secondary digestive and procreative organs. The operation, he said, would have necessitated the building up of a part of the digestive and other essential organs to save the life of one twin.

Rosa was once married, her name being Rosa Blazek Dvorak. She is survived by a normal 11-year-old boy. Her husband was a captain in the German army and was killed in action in 1917. She was married 15 years ago. Josefa never married.

The twins were the second offspring of a normal parentage in Czechoslovakia, 42 years ago. There were four other children, all normal and still living.

During a tour of the world the twins acquired considerable wealth but they died without making a will.

As the women grew weaker last night, physicians pleaded with the brother to permit an operation, hospital attendants stated. He was the only adult relative capable under the Illinois law of giving his consent.

"No," the brother was quoted as having said. "No, not even if Rosa lives for hours after Josefa's death. There shall be no operation."

Dr. J. G. Grogan, personal physician of the twins, appealed to the brother without success. Then their attorney was asked to intervene, but he declined to assume responsibility.

Two hours past midnight, Dr. Brankstone said there was no need of prolonging the argument with the brother.

Civil Service Inspector, Seeks Information Relative to Employment of Mrs. Markham and O'Dowd

Inspector Grandall of the civil service commission was in Lowell on Tuesday of this week, inquiring into the employment of Mrs. Markham and Paul O'Dowd at the Memorial auditorium and particularly as to the method of paying any compensation to them.

The inspector called at the office of the city treasurer, but when informed that their names have not appeared on any city payroll, he left to inquire further of William Drapeau, contractor on the job.

It was with good authority today that John Hayes, local constable, also has been placed at the auditorium in some capacity, although Mr. Drapeau could not be reached to verify the rumor.

RECI TAL BY WELL KNOWN ORGANIST

William Churchill Hammond of Holyoke, organist at Mt. Holyoke college, and widely known as a musician throughout New England, gave a recital last evening on the reconstructed organ at the First Congregational church before an audience that numbered in excess of 800.

The recital marked the first anniversary of the reconstruction of the organ which stands today as one of the finest and most complete instruments in the city, and it was decidedly fitting that a musician of Mr. Hammond's rank should be invited to test it.

Of particular interest was one of his program selections, The Bells of St. Anne de Beaupre, visualizing the gathering of the worshippers, the chanting of the choir, the procession, the miracle, the benediction and the bells in the distance. Coming just after the news that the beautiful basilica had been ravaged and destroyed by fire, the selection was of more than ordinary interest.

MIA MAY, A LEADING ACTRESS OF EUROPE AND HEROINE OF "THE MISTRESS OF THE WORLD"

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—Educational motion picture reels will soon be circulated like books from a public library.

Charles Urban is now preparing a catalogue that will contain about 35 per cent of the material which will be included in his "Living Book of Knowledge." That is to be a world's motion picture encyclopedia of 1000 reels of permanent value.

In the 350 reels which Urban is now preparing will be included the "Great American Authors" and "Great Statesmen" series, naval and military, maritime and public service, series, natural history films, film versions of La Fontaine's fables, and scientific studies in biology, mechanics, sociology, psychology and zoology. In addition there will be series dealing with sports, odd occurrences, cooking and traveling.

Film Libraries

Charles Urban's plan to have topical movies subject to circulation in the same manner as books suggests a wider development along the same line. The day may come when a school or college class studying a great historical event such as the French revolution or the fall of Rome will draw from a library all the films dealing with the subject. Classes in literature may supplement their studies of Shakespeare with film versions of his dramas. Educational use will be made of films that were intended merely for passing entertainment at the time of their production.

butler in Guy Bates Post's celluloid version of "The Masqueraders." Green was once butler for the Duke of Marlborough. His comments on screen characterizations of butler roles are quite illuminating.

"I am shocked almost to the point of illness by the terrible atrocities performed by the average run of screen butlers," says Green. "Never does the genuine article wear the sideburns on his cheeks, sport long trousers, wield a feather duster, serve food as well as wine, or commit any of the countless faux pas which our otherwise well-informed directors ask their actor-butlers to perform." Green's exceptions seem well taken. The most illuminating thing, he says, however, is that he is shocked to the point of illness. It has always been the popular conception that a butler is never shocked at anything, anyway not to the point of illness.

One-Heel Paragraphs

Eugene O'Brien's contract in up. He will probably return to the speaking stage after a short vacation. Poling has established screen censorship, blaming our cowboy westerns for a crime wave. What thrill could there be in a cowboy western in a country disemboweled by war?

Will Hays says the integrity of motion pictures must be maintained the same as the integrity of the church. The church has been saying that about the movies for several years. Hold the press! "The Mayor's Wife" has been changed to "Should Husbands Know?"

An over-enthusiastic press agent any number of mothballs were bought to preserve 110 costumes. That many mothballs would fill the ball park.

NAVAL, SUBMARINE AND GAS PACTS RATIFIED

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The two arms conference treaties limiting the navies of the great powers and restricting the use of submarines and poison gas, were ratified in a landslide of approval yesterday by the senate.

To the naval limitation covenant, declaring a naval building holiday and fixing a ratio of capital ship strength for the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, the senate gave its final assent by a vote of 74 to 1 and then almost without debate it accepted, 71 to 0, the pact designed to prevent submarine operations against merchantmen and to outlaw chemical warfare altogether. No amendments or reservations were proposed to either.

The only negative vote was cast against the treaty by Senator France, who said he regarded naval reduction as a dangerous expedient under present world conditions.

Every other member of the "Irreconcilable" treaty bloc who was present cast a vote in the affirmative, although Senator Borah told the senate he regarded the treaty as only a beginning and Senator Johnson declared he accepted the fortification "status quo" provisions for the Pacific with grave misgivings.

A speech annulling the poison gas articles of the submarine and gas treaty was made on the floor by Senator Wadsworth, chairman of the military committee, but before the ratification roll call he left the chamber and did not vote. The New York senator disagreed with the statement in the treaty text that use of gas in warfare had been "justly condemned by the general opinion of the civilized world," argued the chemical warfare had not proven actually more brutal than other accepted methods of destruction and expressed a fear that the treaty pledges would be violated in any emergency.

As soon as the two pacts had been disposed of, administration leaders brought formally before the senate its general far eastern treaty. Debate on it will begin tomorrow, with indications pointing to opposition from a small group of senators who believe that China's interests were not sufficiently protected. It is the hope of the leaders, however, that both the pact and the Chinese tariff treaty, the last remaining covenant of the conference, will be ratified during the present week.

Senator France, who alone opposed the naval treaty, said he could not vote for ratification because he was not a pacifist.

"I shall stand in the minority here in the senate," said Senator France. "but I know I shall stand with the overwhelming majority of the American people. It is not pleasant for me to mar the picture of harmony here, but I must remind the senate that while we debate, there are languishing in prison cells under sentences of extreme severity men convicted of the crime of pacifism. And now men are talking in the halls of congress the same views that drove these men here."

Supporting the treaty, Senator Hiram, democrat, Mississippi, assailed the republicans for what he said was an attempt to clinch the army confer-

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 30.—Peace was restored here today after a night bordering on rioting during which a passenger train virtually was held prisoner for more than two hours by sympathizers of striking laborers of the Western Maryland railroad. In five minutes "Pape's Diapepsin" ends

Indigestion Sourness Gases Acidity Flatulence Palpitation

"Pape's Diapepsin" relieves stomach distress in five minutes. You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you must insure it with drastic drugs. Pape's Diapepsin is not a laxative, it is a certain action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large 60-cent case from any drug store, and then if you should eat something which doesn't agree with you, if what you eat lies like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eruptions of your skin; indigestion—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all indigestion vanishes. It is the most efficient antacid known—the certainty and ease with which it overcomes stomach and digestive disorders is a revelation to those who try it—ADV.

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT LOWELL DAY PROGRAM

Judge Enright Opposed to Police Bargaining With Liquor Law Violators

Judge Thomas J. Enright is decidedly opposed to members of the vice squad making any trades with liquor law violators. He told this to Lieut. George Palmer, head of the department, while a case was going on in district court this morning. "I wouldn't make trades or bargains with these people to make them plead guilty," were the words of the judge used. The remarks came as the result of Noherta Ferreira pleading not guilty to a charge of illegal keeping. The defendant was in court several days ago and at that time it was understood that he was to plead guilty. His case was continued until the afternoon, when he was to plead guilty. The judge said that the liquor enforcement machinery with his declaration this morning and left the officers without any prepared evidence against him.

According to Lieut. Palmer, members of the squad had been watching a house at 100 Fifteen street, and had been occupied by one John Ferreira, a cousin of Noherta's. When the raid took place John Ferreira disclaimed ownership of the liquor and said that his cousin owned it and that arrangements would be made to have Noherta plead guilty. The officers alleged the case to remain open and get out a warrant for Noherta. Lieut. Palmer said that he had no intention of making trades with Noherta, but was taking the course he thought best under the circumstances.

The court ordered the case continued to April 8 and told the officers to make out the case in the meantime and have the parties brought in for trial.

Illegal Keeping

Halda Hall of 154 Adams street was arraigned on a charge of illegal keeping, pleaded not guilty, and had her case continued to April 10. According to members of the liquor squad there are some peculiar facts connected with the case. The officers alleged that the defendant made a purchase, into the house, whom they alleged made a purchase. When the raid took place, it was said to have assumed all responsibility for the liquor. The officers claim the proprietor was in the house at the time and his wife was ill in bed. The wife is said to have disclaimed that the man was her husband. The police aver that the man was a stranger to the house, and guilty of illegal keeping and fined. It is also said to have given a fictitious name.

Adam Chason, who was fined for illegal keeping in court on March 13, but who appealed, has withdrawn his appeal and paid $100. The liquor squad is now looking for a man named Alex Demers was continued to April 8. Anna Alex pleaded not guilty to an assault and battery charge, made by Joseph Blazones, and her case was continued to April 8.

REPAIRING STREETS
AFTER TRACK WORK

Hereafter all necessary repair of pavements in streets where the local division of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. has done track work, will be made by the street department, and the cost of such work charged up to the railroad.

A letter to this effect was sent today to Manager Thomas Lee by Superintendent of Streets Harry Dolohy, noting upon instructions of the city engineer.

The engineering department claims that in the past, streets torn up, or paving disturbed by the street railway company during track work were not properly repaired and therefore, the new method of handling such incidents has been devised.

The road has been asked to notify the street department of spots disturbed and a repair gang will be sent out to fix them immediately.

Paving work will start next Monday in Moody street and at the approaches of the Lawrence street bridge, which is being left over from last year.

MERRIMACK RIVER
CONTINUES TO RISE

The Merrimack river reached its highest point of the spring season today, when the records of the Locks and Canals company show that water was passing down the river at the Hoot Mill gates at the rate of 30,000 feet a second, making the river from 5 to 6 feet higher than normal.

The locks and canal authorities believe, however, that the river has reached high water mark and will rise no further; rather, that there will be a gradual recession until normal is reached once more. This is out of the upper reaches of the river only, and the rain of the last few days has been the prime cause of the increased flow, but it is thought that the river will reach its proper level again before further rains can make any perceptible increase.

Several feet additional must be gained by the river in order to make flood conditions imminent. Fortunately there is no prospect of this, although in other parts of New England, notably in the lower Connecticut valley, rivers and streams have risen to unusual heights.

BIDS OPEN ON NEW

Prices ranging from $2250 to $4650 were included in a list of bids opened for the police department, opened this morning in the office of the city purchasing agent. CITY COUNCIL
MEETING TONIGHT

An attempt will be made in the city council tonight at its meeting called for the purpose of passing the 1922 budget, to have the city accept the net providing for old age pensions for city laborers. The act has been on the state statute books for some time, but it has been left to the option of cities whether or not it should be accepted.

When the budget comes up for passage tonight there is a possibility that the $5000 out from the figure of the budget and addit commission for the health department yard, will be returned and that in the balancing process an additional $5000 will be cut from the figures of the ash collection department.

It is understood that some attempt will be made to take the mayor's nomination of Edward Mulry for superintendent of charities from the table, but opposition is likely to develop. It is said, with the chance that it will not come up for action.

LOCAL TANNERY STRIKE RAID DUBLIN PAPER

Leatherworkers Look for Early Settlement of Strike
at Local Plant

The employees of the American Hide and Leather Co., who have been on strike close to two weeks as the result of a reduction in wages, as in houses that the strike will be settled before the end of the week. They base their hopes on the fact that Agent Fred M. Knight of the state board of arbitration and conciliation has conferred with the officials of the company and that he is very anxious to meet General Organiza Shea of the National Leather Workers' union in this city tomorrow morning.

On Tuesday Agent Knight got in touch with Organiza Shea on the long distance telephone and the latter informed the state official that the committee of strikers is ready at any time to confer with the employers. Yesterday, so it was learned, Mr. Knight conferred with Mr. Lilly, general manager of the New England district of the American Hide and Leather Co. in Boston and this morning, without telling what transpired at the conference, Mr. Knight notified Organiza Shea that he must see him at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the headquarters of the Leather Workers' union in Central street, this city. This general belief is that Mr. Knight has succeeded in arranging for a conference between employers and employees and if such is the case, it is felt that the grievances will soon be settled.

Rev. Mr. Bateman of the Congregational church of South Peabody who addressed a mass meeting of strikers in Leather Workers' hall yesterday afternoon, is a graduate of Harvard college, a prominent rotarian and member of the chamber of commerce of his city. In the course of his remarks he told of his interest in the labor movement in this country and said the time has passed when employees and employers not to iron out their difficulties. Most of the shops, he said, are now controlled by trusts and it is very difficult to get at the head of the concerns. He urged the strikers to stick fast, saying that was the only way to victory.

Bateman came to Lowell last year and was one of the principal speakers at the annual convention of the National Leather Workers' union, and his address at that time so impressed the Lowell delegates, that last Tuesday they invited him to come here and address the strikers.

Plant of Freeman's Journal
Wrecked and Set Afire by 50 Raiders

DUBLIN, March 30.—(By the Associated Press).—The raiders who wrecked the plant of the Freeman's Journal, early this morning numbered about 50 and were not disguised. They cut the telephone wires, held up the staff at revolver point, smashed the presses, threw gasoline on the floors and stoves and set fire to the building. The plant's supply of news print suffered principally from the fire.

The raid is believed to have been a sequel to the publication by the newspaper of a report of the proceedings at the secret convention of the de Valera section of the Irish republican army on Sunday. The Freeman's Journal appeared this morning in the shape of a small handbill, which was placed all over the city. It contained an editorial which told of the attack on the newspaper premises, expressed defiance of those who made the attack and asserted it would continue to appear in some form or other, and say what it chose. The paper's publication was regarded as a defiance and would continue the fight for Irish liberty.

Republican army men armed with revolvers, went about the city tearing down the editorial wherever it was posted.

Mrs. Myrick did not consider this enough and was preparing to leave when Myrick came home last night and found her packing up. The police say he went out, bought liquor and a revolver, returned and shot his wife.

Myrick was later arraigned in the Roxbury district court on a charge of murder. He was held without bail for a hearing.

FLIGHT FROM LISBON TO PERNAMBUCO, BRAZIL

LISBON, March 30.—(By the Associated Press).—The attempted flight from Lisbon to Pernambuco, Pa., was started this morning, the captain, Sagadura and Coutinho, flying the air at 7 o'clock. They hope to make the transatlantic passage, more than 4000 miles in 60 hours, actual flying time. They expect to arrive in Brazil by April 15.

The first stop will be at the Canary Islands. From there the route is by way of the Cape Verde Islands and thence to Fernando Noronha, a short distance northeast of Pernambuco.

The flight from the Cape Verde Islands to Fernando Noronha is attended with considerable risk, as the only precaution taken for the safety of the aviators has been the stationing of three Portuguese cruisers along the line of flight.

The aviators hoped to reach the Canaries tonight.
